Blaise Bercegeay Wins TC 100 Crown Round, Pockets $92K in Perry

By Julie Mankin

Blaise Bercegeay of Summit, Mississippi, won a staggering $77,787 aboard her own 5-year-old sorrel gelding Sbwfeelinthe-pressure at the Equinety Jingle Bell Classic on Dec. 20-21 in Perry, Georgia.

The biggest chunk came courtesy of the Crown Round race for progeny of Triple Crown 100 Incentive stallions. Bercegeay and the youngster called “Gage” edged Taycie Matthews on her 7-year-old CNFR champion gelding Fame Fire Rocks (“Poprocks”) – the 2023 Nutrena WPR Horse of the Year – by .16 seconds for the $60,000 win.

Gage is by the Triple Crown sire No Pressure On Me and out of Kim Matthews’ great mare Feelinthefirewater, by JL Dash Ta Heaven. He carries the SBW in his name courtesy of his breeders, Stephanie and Brian Wheeler. Bercegeay and Wheeler will get married on Feb. 14.

“Brian’s mom raised this horse and Brian broke him and trained him,” said Bercegeay. “I ran him for the first time a year ago and bought him in June. We hit it off pretty good! He’s won just over $300,000 now, I believe.”

Wheeler was having a great futurity season on Gage in 2023 – including a reserve championship at the 2022 BFA Juvenile – when the horse came down with EPM in May and was given three full months off for treatment. Dr. Hand at ESMS not only brought the horse back, Bercegeay said, but she feels TRAINING/CONDITIONING REGIMEN: I have never gone through the barrels slower than a run on this horse! I exercise him at home 4-5 times a week. We don’t do a lot of pattern work, especially lately. Brian exhibitions him everywhere, and I just jump on and run.

 In Perry, the pair’s Crown Round run also won the High Roller and Open races on Saturday, worth $7,003 and $4,263 respectively, which helped her place second in the Open average and win the BBR Xtra sidepot, as well. Making horses is a team effort for this couple (with Wheeler doing all the shoeing), and Bercegeay says the Jingle Bell Classic & Crown Round Continued on Page 3

16-hand-tall Gage has been super easy to run.

"I know some girls seem scared to buy barrel horses trained by men, but all the horses that Brian has sold have gone to girls and every one of them is winning," she said. "Honestly, barrel racers have a tendency to narrow this down to a science, but we try not to overthink it – we prefer to say we just kick and pull!"

No Pressure On Me, now 18, is a paternal grandson of Dr. Nick Bar out of the phenomenal barrel mare SX Frenchmans Vanilla.

"Brian and I were watching videos recently of Chris Coffee running that stud as a 3-year-old at the BFA, and Gage reminds me so much of his sire," said Bercegeay. "He gets real low and runs in the same kind of headgear – it was really neat to see."

Bercegeay, now 30, was just starting her career 15 years ago, and had never seen the stud at work. Her Crown Round paycheck was the largest she's ever won.

"I've had a lot of success in barrel racing and have had so many good horses, thanks in large part to my grandpa," she said. "And I've won some youth world championships, but I've never won money like this."

Bercegeay ran four horses total in Perry and won plenty on the other three, too, to leave town with a total of $92,329. Those included 7-year-old SBW Copy Cat out of the Wheeler family's great mare SX Dr Peacharita and by Blazin Jetolena, the Carlos Renato-trained Plea Barrgain by Judge Cash, and BR The Tonka Taxi by Dash Ta Fame.

For the record, she also owns Designer Legs – the 4-year-old Slick By Design colt on whom Wheeler won every round and the

Walking The Course – Take a Glimpse into Kassie Mowry’s English-influenced Training Program

By Tanya Randall

A good foundation with a horse is so important because it becomes the default setting for everything in its career. It’s the same for riders, too.

For 2024 WPRA World Champion Kassie Mowry, her English background is her default setting, and it shows in her training style.

“I think a lot of it is collection and extension of stride,” said Mowry. “For a lot of people, it’s walk, trot, lope, run. To me, I break it down more. I’m going to do an extended trot to the barrel and a collected trot around the barrel. I’m not going to stop the horse for rate, I’m going to collect it. I feel like stride length is the biggest thing.”

She’s also integrated half-halts into the barrel pattern.

“I don’t think a lot of people know what those are,” she chuckled. A half-halt is a subtle cue to rebalance and gather a horse’s energy in preparation for a transition. In her old world, Mowry used a half halt to prepare for a jump. Now, she uses it to prepare for a turn.

“I do a lot of half-halts to prepare my horse,” she said. “I ask for a half-halt for their attention and then I ask them to do it.”

It’s subtle on a lot of horses, looking like a simple squeeze of the hands, but on other harder running horses, it looks like a two-handed check and release.

Her English background has also influenced how she manages her horses. In fact, it’s the biggest reason she limits her runs.

“Three-day eventing is a totally different mindset about how many times you compete on those horses,” she explained. “I was always told they only have so many in them, so you pick when you want to do it. That’s why I’m big on being as ready as I can and doing the least amount of runs, rodeos, futurities—whatever—because I do feel they only have so many in them.

“Also, I feel that them being fresh and willing goes a really long way. They run really hard when they feel good. Mine tend to be on the fresher side, and I think it works to my advantage.

“At the same time I have to be ready. That’s not easy to do when you’re not going as much on them. It really is a timing thing. It takes a lot of time doing it to get to that point.”

She, too, had to learn what that balancing point was, as was the case with her star Dashing Dillon.

“I remember Dillon was so easy that I didn’t do enough with him,” she recalled. “When he won the (BFA) Juvenile, he was entered in the San Antonio Futurity, but I didn’t take him. Everybody thought there was something wrong with him but there wasn’t. I was just so appreciative of him and so careful with him that I thought I couldn’t run him again. (San Antoino) was a whole month later. I didn’t really run him until the Good Times Futurity and Kinder. I figured out that he wasn’t as ready as those other colts because they’d already been to two or three futurities by the time he’d been to his second. I was trying to do the right thing to a fault.”

She said mistakes have been her biggest teacher, but she learned that having the right mindset to work through problems makes all the difference.

“I can do what I’m doing because I messed up a lot of horses,” she said candidly. “I had a lot of horses to learn this from. I don’t want people to be so scared to mess a horse up to not do anything at all. That’s a problem as well.”

As she did training her first barrel horse Cashyherchexatthebar (“Bailey”), that later carried her to an IFR and NFR, Mowry made mistakes, like taking him straight to the barrel instead of to a pocket—“because I didn’t know what a pocket was,” she noted—but as she learned, she continued to two tweak and fix her mistakes.

“Just don’t lose your temper on one,” she said. “Work through it. They’re all going to have problems. It’s not just smooth sailing for me here. I just don’t make a big deal out of things. If it’s wrong, if my horse ducks a barrel, if something happens, I don’t make a big deal of it. I pretend that it didn’t happen and regroup. I feel like if you make a hot spot or a sticky spot, somewhere they get uptight, that’s when you start having a problem.”

Mowry wants her horses relaxed but focused on her.

“My horses aren’t uptight horses,” she said. “My horses are more relaxed. They’re paying attention to me. They’re listening. That’s how I’ve gotten a long way in the sport, having horses that aren’t afraid. They know their job but are still willing to come back to me when the pressure is there. That’s really hard. It takes a lot of work. When they get pressured, they go into reaction mode. That’s what horses are. They just react. The whole time I’m training the biggest thing I’m trying to instill in my horse is don’t react, let me help you. That’s the No. 1 thing. Let me help you.”

Her English background, again, gives her an edge to being there to help them when needed.

“That’s why I ride two handed,” she said. “I’m not pulling them or forcing them, but I’m right there, half a step away from being able to help them. When you have one hand on the rein or a loop in the reins, I feel like you’re a couple of strides away from being able to help when I’m right there. But that’s my background, how I grew up riding. Having a saddle horn is what’s foreign to me. I’ve bust my hand on that saddle horn more than you can imagine because it’s right in the way of where I want my hands.”

Mowry also wants to take the time to get to know her horses. She doesn’t have a set amount of horses to ride every day, which helps prevent burnout for them and herself. It also gives her quality time with each one.

“Have a good understanding and bond with your horse to where if they get in a spot to be flighty, like a horse is wired to be, they’ll come back to you and listen,” she said. “You can get a lot done that way.”

She’s also pretty particular about having a horse with the right personality.

“I learned that there were horses that made winning easy and some that made it harder,” she said. “I figured out there were some that you were constantly having to put back together. They had the ability, but it took a lot of behind the scenes work. I’ve had horses like Dillon and Jarvis and FM Radio that just gave it to you. That they were just easy. A lot of it was their personality. That’s why I’m big on their personality, which also goes a long with their breeding a lot of time.”

An Eternal Champion – Firewaterontherocks, 2002-2024

On Sunday, December 22, champion sire and performer Firewaterontherocks (“Happy”) was laid to rest at age 22 after a long battle with arthritis.

“We always know these days are coming but never prepared and never easy,” said his owner and breeder Robyn Herring. “He’s just been so good to me.”

One of the all-time leading barrel horse sires, Happy’s offspring won more than $4.3 million in the arena even though they were in minimal incentive programs. Much like he was, Happy’s offspring were incredible rodeo horses with five helping to qualify riders to the National Finals Rodeo.

Some of his winningest offspring include NFR qualifier and multiple futurity champion Firewatermakemehappy, who still holds ownership of one of the fastest times ever run in the Thomas & Mack Center in Las Vegas; the up-and-coming sire SR Industry Titan, a BFA World Derby Champion that later carried 2023 WPRA World Champion Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi to nearly $80,000 of her record-breaking earnings; NFR qualifier and round winner and College National Finals Rodeo qualifier Lena On The Rocks; multiple futurity champion and NFR qualifier LK Watch Me Rock and CNFR Champion and NFR qualifier Fame Fire Rocks.

Happy was an emerging broodmare sire with grandget earning more than $2 million. In 2024, he had his first NFR qualifier with DM High Roller, an earner of $600,000 out of his AQHA World Champion daughter Happy To Run Em. Happy’s most prolific daughter, Hip Swinging Gypsy, was responsible for producing $700,000 in earners including 2022 Pink Buckle Champion Slick Swingin; 2023 Royal Crown Buckeye Futurity Champion Slick Swingin Gypsy and 2023 BFA Juvenile Champion Streak Gypsy Streak.

The burnished gold Palomino was Herring’s first foray into raising barrel horses. She had purchased his dam Rock N Roll Rona, a daughter of 1986 World Champion Racehorse Ronas Ryon, off of the track and trained her for barrels. Rock N Roll Rona was her first futurity horse. When Herring made the decision to breed the mare, she picked the greatest barrel horse sire living at the time, Fire Water Flit.

Although she had trained Happy and had exhibited the stallion some, Herring was unsure he needed to be left a stallion. In June of his third year, she sent him to Latricia Duke while still questioning that status. His success in the arena left no doubt.

Happy started his career winning the 2D average at the BFA Juvenile but by January he was winning futurity rounds. He ran third at the San Antonio Futurity, Victory Farms Futurity and WPRA Windy Sue Futurity and was a finalist at the BFA World Championships, Gold and Silver Cup futurities and won the Old Fort Days Futurity Consolation.

As a rodeo horse, Happy just got better. He won the Reno Rodeo in Nevada and the Dixie National in Jackson, Mississippi, as well as tough Texas rodeos in Pecos, Corpus Christi, Lufkin, Vernon, Beaumont, Belton and Mercedes.

Happy and Herring missed the National Finals Rodeo twice, finishing 26th in 2011 and 17th in 2012. Both years, Happy had to have significant breaks due to illness or injury. Their most memorable finish was at RFD-TV’s The American in 2014 where they finished as reserve champions.

Merry Christmas

While they were there, the time came for the baby to be born, and she gave birth to her firstborn, a son. She wrapped him in cloths and placed him in a manger, because there was no guest room available for them.

And there were shepherds living out in the fields nearby, keeping watch over their flocks at night. An angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were terrified.

But the angel said to them, “Do not be afraid. I bring you good news that will cause great joy for all the people. Today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you; he is the Messiah, the Lord.

This will be a sign to you: You will find a baby wrapped in cloths and lying in a manger.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Merry Christmas! What a wonderful time of year...for some. For others, it can be painful and/or lonely. But as a child of God, this should not be...and it can be overcome.

When we asked Jesus to be our Lord, our salvation came loaded with benefits! Read Psalm 103:1-5. Just look at THOSE benefits! And, He NEVER leaves or forsakes us. So, we aren't alone anymore, whether there are people around us or not. Read Hebrews 13:5.

Moving right along to how we can stand up to loneliness, let's consider Gal. 6:7. Whatsoever a man sows, that he will reap. THAT IS NOT ALWAYS A NEGATIVE! If you sow being a friend, being kind, inviting others to share your meals, you will reap those things. That's pretty simple.

No one invited you to dinner...YOU INVITE SOMEONE! Didn't get a gift? Luke 6:38 tells us to give and IT WILL BE GIVEN BACK TO US, pressed down, shaken together and running over!

These are only a few reasons why we celebrate the birth of our Lord Jesus. Let's turn feelings of sadness around and celebrate Him! God bless you!
