Grand Slam for Jordan Driver at Rodeo San Diego

By Tanya Randall

Jordan Driver and her two talented horses Judge JB Cash and TRHeavensIlluminated (“Cyrus”) dominated the San Diego Rodeo, presented by the San Diego Padres, Outriders and C5 Rodeo. She swept the event, held January 10-12 in Petco Park, for $31,000!

“It was super cool,” said the Tarleton State University senior. “They sold it out almost every night, Saturday night, for sure. They don’t even sell the whole stadium because you can only see so much, but it was packed and loud, and they loved the barrel race! It was probably 10 times louder when the barrel race started!”

Driver had already planned on traveling West for The American Contender Tournament West Regional in Las Vegas when she got the call for San Diego. When the three ladies ahead of her in the Leaderboard standings for the World Champions Rodeo Alliance declined a spot in San Diego, she jumped at the chance.

“This is a bucket list rodeo,” she said, “and I have two spots to the (American) Central, so I thought I might as well take it and go have fun with it.”

And, she had a lot of fun at the unique event.

“They had such an awesome production,” she said. “That’s the most fun I’ve had.”

The venue also had some rare challenges in and outside the arena. First, all the contestants had free boarding at a facility in Lakeside, California, 30-minutes away from Petco Park in downtown San Diego.

Once in the city, they staged in one of the baseball field parking lots, but they had to be shuttled to the arena.

“There’s actually a city ordinance that horses cannot be on the city sidewalk, so we can’t ride or walk our horses into the stadium,” Driver explained. “They had two stock trailers, and they had to trailer us in and out all day. It was pretty tight to get in and out of there.”

“I rode in the trailer the whole time I had Cyrus with me. Jimmie (Smith) and I would wait until the last minute to go over there. So, it was a six horse trailer with Jimmie and Nicky (A Valiant Nicky) and me and Cyrus. Honestly, none of the horses took it badly at all. It was very, very organized, which made it so much easier. We weren’t running around wondering what we were supposed to do.”

In the production meeting, they were also advised to be very mindful of the actions. Because of the environment, barrel racers were also told not to carry or use any type of whip and were advised to avoid slapping their horses on the neck during a run.

“With them trying to bring rodeo back into California, into those big cities, we had to be aware of what we were doing with the Humane Society and protesters,” Driver said. “Thankfully, there weren’t that many that bothered us. Everyone was pretty cool. It’s hard to say people don’t like rodeo when there’s 40,000 people in there to watch.”

Driver started the rodeo on her 7-year-old JL Dash Ta Heaven, TR Dashing Badger gelding Cyrus, winning the opening round in 16.27. The $3,500 first-place check was enough to guarantee her a spot in Sunday’s Round of Eight, since advancement was determined by money won throughout the event.

“I was still a little confused on the money won and how we moved on,” Driver explained. “Everyone told me that after I won the round, I was pretty much set to go. I was actually going to run Judge the second night performance, because I thought Cyrus didn’t need to make all the runs. When we got to talking to the production (staff) they said when you win two rounds you’re guaranteed off money won to make the four-man (Finals). I decided that I would run him again and try to win the rounds so I’d be guaranteed to the four-man.”

Driver decided to run Judge, her 9-year-old Judge Cash, PC Bar Dox Frost gelding, in the Round of Eight to rest Cyrus. The gelding, who has typically been her indoor specialist, turned in the fastest time of the rodeo, a 16.12, to win the round.

“When I ran the .12 I didn’t really expect it,” she said. “I was hoping for a .3 or .4. That's what I thought when I was on his back, so it was kind of shocking. I don't expect anything less of him. He's done it with me all summer. It was really neat to let him go in there and do that!"

Judge was so relaxed after his run that Driver decided to run him again.

"The Four Man (Finals) was a clean slate, so you can't hit a barrel," she explained. "I knew I was guaranteed money, so it was just have fun with it. (Judge) had just ran a .1, and he came out and wasn't hot, he wasn't wound up or breathing hard and he cooled down super quick. When I pulled his saddle off, he had a leg cocked and was half asleep.

"It was a hard choice, but an awesome choice to be blessed enough to have the option to get on either horse that I know I can win on. It was just a gut feeling to get on him and let him go make another run."

Their 16.31 was enough to hold off defending champion and SoCal native Sue Smith and Diamond Center's 16.39.

While Driver had picked Cyrus for her string after intensely following his development and futurity career with Molli Montgomery, she was able to pick up Judge from Quincy Sullivan, a fellow college competitor, last June.

Driver was headed to the College National Finals Rodeo when her hauling partner LaTricia Duke called to tell her that Sullivan was wanting to sell Judge.

"I knew what he was, and I know what he can do," Driver said. "I bought him the next day. I didn't even try him. I just had a feeling and knew what he was capable of."

As soon as Driver returned from the CNFR, she added Judge to the trailer before heading out to Reno to start the summer run of pro rodeos.

"I had to figure him out on the road at the rodeos," she said. "I didn't get a whole lot of jackpots or riding time to figure him out. It was mainly if we got to a rodeo early enough and they let us have Expect Driver to be switching back-and-forth between the two geldings during the winter run of building rodeos.

"They're awesome," she said of Cyrus and Judge. "They're polar opposites of each other but they go together so well. They're best friends, honestly, so it's easy to have them together. It's super fun to ride them when they both do stuff like that!"

Abigail Knight & Mable Draws A Pistol Sweep Montana Circuit Titles

By Tanya Randall

Abigail Knight and her homegrown gelding Mable Draws A Pistol captured both the year-end and rodeo titles at the Montana Circuit Finals, held January 9-11 in Great Falls, Montana. They collected $10,266 for the circuit finals victory and won the year-end title with $24,424.

Knight and Pistol successfully navigated the small confines of the Four Seasons Arena three times to win the aggregate by nearly a half-second.

"I knew I just had to ride him into his turns," she said. "He knows how to find those barrels. I don't stress about that little pen too much. He goes in and makes the same run every time."

Raised by her parents, Mike and Roxanne, Pistol is by Instant Income out of Mike's roping horse Tinka Rocket Command, by Brown King Command. The now 12-year-old gelding has carried Knight to four straight circuit finals. They also won the year-end and circuit finals titles in 2023.

Knight, a biologist who works in an agricultural lab, said her year couldn't have gone any better. Not only did she win three rodeos—Newport, Washington, Stamford and Big Fork, Montana, on Pistol, she also won three rodeos on her newest acquisition, Cash N My Wildcard. "Junior" carried Knight to victories at Chinook, Kalispell and Browning, Montana.

"He came to me a year and half ago as a client horse," said Knight of the 8-year-old gelding by Wild Card Cat out of Precious By Cash, by Cash In Your Bux. "They were looking to sell him. He had just been a cutting horse and was patterned, but he was really spooky and watchy. We just instantly clicked, so I never let him go home."

Knight is looking forward to taking both horses to the NFR Open in Colorado Springs this July.

"Pistol seemed to like it the last time we were there, so I'm excited to go back there with him and Jr. Who knows, he might get the call too," said Knight.

Knight, who hails from Charlo, Montana, said she doesn't have a lot of rodeos on her schedule yet, although she'll likely enter Rapid City, South Dakota. The perils of winter travel prevent Knight from going to rodeos further south like the qualifier for Denver, when she has to turn right around and return to Montana for the circuit finals. Rather than focusing on a winter run, she opts to get her young horses up to speed during the winter months and will likely start entering more rodeos in March.

"Every year I try to branch out a little more, but we'll see," said Knight, who won about $6,000 outside the circuit in 2024. "I've got a pretty nice futurity horse and I might try to hit a few futurities. I

Rookie Alyssa LoBello & TL Tuff Shine Sweep First Frontier Circuit Titles

By Tanya Randall

Alyssa LoBello cleaned house in the First Frontier Circuit. The first-year member from Syracuse, New York, took rookie honors as well as the year-end and finals championship titles at the First Frontier Circuit Finals, held January 9-11 in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

"What an experience! I can wholeheartedly say I just went in having fun," said LoBello, a senior operations manager who consults for various tech companies. "I didn't have any expectations. I knew I had the horse power, but I didn't know if she could handle it mentally."

LoBello was riding TL Tuff Shine, affectionately known as Luna, but often acknowledged as "The Queen of Mean."

"She's great in the arena, but on the ground..." LoBello chuckled.

The high octane mare proved that she could indeed handle the pressure of the circuit finals, placing third in the first round and winning the next two and aggregate.

"I wasn't sure mentally how she would handle something like that, but again, I just went in just having fun," she stated. "My horse loved the pen. The first night we struggled because we got by the first. I expected that with a new element, new situation, and the barrels were way off the wall. I reached out to one of my friends and had her analyze my run and what I needed to do to get in there and ace my first. Anytime I can have a money barrel on the first, I'm usually right up there in the winnings. They were good runs. I was actually really amped."

The victory was worth $10,053. LoBello, who went into the Circuit Finals fourth in the standings, actually captured the year-end lead after the second round and never relinquished. Now, she's “It’s an opportunity to submerge myself into the environment. It would be wrong for me not to take advantage of an opportunity like that.”

It will be a big trip for the second-year cowgirl. She joined the WPRA at the encouragement of her friend Joanna Reid, who also placed at the circuit finals.

“She said, ‘You’re not owning a horse like that and not even trying it,’” LoBello recalled. “My very first pro rodeo I went to was in Delaware and I won it. I was hooked.”

LoBello filled her permit in the same weekend. “I was like, ‘Oh crap! Now what do I do?’” she related. Reid advised her to wait until the 2024 season so she could run for rookie of the year in the circuit.

“I’m going to keep rodeoing,” she said. “I love it and can’t get enough of it now. That’s the craziest thing. It’s such a cool element to be in. It’s such a different atmosphere than Super Shows. You feel valued at a rodeo because of the crowd.”

LoBello also plans on getting her IPRA card too.

“I wish I had bought my card this year because I went to four and won all four,” she said. “I definitely want to dabble in the IPRA and maybe go to the IFR. Maddie and Nichole Helm told me it’s a great experience.”

LoBello’s father Shawn is responsible for getting his daughter hooked on horses. He was involved with cutting and sorting, but his daughter took an interest in the gymkhanas held after the shows.

I wanted to get into gymkhana because I thought it was cool,” she said. “My dad was like, ‘Ok.’ He basically put all his stuff on hold so I could do that. I think it was maybe two years of gymkhana before my

THANK YOU: Dad Shawn LoBello. “He’s the one that got this all started. I wanted to sell Luna 1,000 times, but he wouldn’t let me!” Taylor Savoy. “She’s really stuck it out with me. She gets a beat down every time she puts us in a pen. My horse runs her over, but she’s right there and helps me in. We’ve been friends since we were kids, so she’s seen Luna from the start to finish. I equate a lot of my success to her.” Joanna Reid. “I wouldn’t be rodeoing if she hadn’t forced me to do it!”

dad was like, ‘We’re done. We’re going to bigger super shows.’

“We hit the ground running. I’m very fortunate that my dad has provided me with really nice animals. Once you win, you get hooked.”

Ironically, she came across Luna as a yearling while picking up a high-priced prospect in South Carolina. They had stopped a local auction and LoBello took an interest in Luna, a daughter of Shiners Cash out of PC Dox Chanelle, by PC Dox Cajun.

“We just happened to go there by chance,” noted LoBello. “We paid $1,100 for her.”

After doing most of Luna’s initial training, LoBello sent the mare to cutting horse trainer Brandon Tefft for 60 days of riding.

“I’d say 90 percent of her training was done by me and my father,” LoBello said. “He’s my ground man. When I’m riding, he’s on the ground, telling me what I need to do.”

Taylor Manning & Designed By The King Sweep Inaugural Texas Classic Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Two-time Canadian Champion Barrel Racer Taylor Manning and Designed By The King (“Praise”) swept the 93-entry, $15,000-added J and J Productions Futurity at the inaugural Texas Classic, held January 6-8—a rare early week event—in the Circle T Arena at Hamilton, Texas.

“She’s been really good. She’s been a lot of fun,” said Manning of the 5-year-old daughter of 9.3 million dollar sire Slick By Design out of Double M Performance Horses’ Lions Share Of Fame mare Ms Gunbattle. They collected $10,377 for sweeping the Futurity and $4,178 in carryover earnings for a total haul of $14,555.

“She’s a pretty cool horse,” Manning continued. “It’s kind of crazy to me. It feels like with more runs—knock on wood—she’s getting better. She’s an easier horse for me from what I’ve had. She’s honest, but she wants to be turny. She runs out from under me so it’s not like I have to push her. I just really like her. She’s pretty fun.”

Manning got Praise as an unstarted 2-year-old after searching for a prospect online.

“I was looking on Facebook for a Slick By Design, Dash Ta Fame cross,” she explained. “I was on Pink Buckle Prospects, and I found her. I remember showing my mom. We both liked her and had a good feeling about her.”

Praise had a very interesting start under saddle. The filly was so good minded that Manning and friend thought they could get her started. They initially saddled and drove the mare, but Manning decided she might let someone else do it.

“We threw a saddle up on her and she was fine,” Manning chuckled. “We drove her a little bit, and I told my friend, ‘I think I can hop on her.’ I went to put a little weight in the saddle—I wasn’t going to get on; I was just going to get her used to it. She blows in two. I was like, ‘I’m not starting her!’”

Manning sent her to Donna Beierbach, who used to own the great stallion Ninety Nine Goldmine.

“She didn’t know she wasn’t started,” Manning explained. “Mom had been talking to her and I had been talking to her, but I guess it was kind of a mixed signal. I texted her about a month in and asked her how Praise is doing, ‘Has she bucked or anything?’”

Beierbach replied, “No, she hasn’t bucked, but you’re going to have to fire your colt starter! This horse is really green!”

Manning chuckled again, as she recalled replying, “You are my colt starter!”

Praise’s good-minded nature held through her barrel training with Manning.

“She’s always been a really kind minded horse,” she said. “She always wants to please. She wants to make you happy. She’s always been very easy. Even if you have a couple of hard rides, she’ll always be waiting at the gate to get caught or do something. She’s the kindest mare I think I’ve ever owned.”

Praise got her competitive start last fall at jackpots, but her performance left Manning doubtful.

“I was struggling with her a little bit,” she admitted. “I like it when horses have a lot of collection. She was wanting to root her nose, and she was popping out of the barrels a little bit. I just felt like maybe I wasn’t a 100 percent ready.”

When Manning took Praise to the OKC Futurity, she took another horse rather than Praise’s usual buddy. She thinks that made the mare more reliant on her for comfort and assurance.

“She was scared of a lot of things and she kind of stuck to me,” she said. “She worked really good there.”

They earned $15,626 and the OKC Rookie Reserve Championship.

Manning credits her first pro horse Good Little Nick for teaching her the importance of bonding with an unsure horse.

THANK YOU: Mom Shelly Manning and Canadian transplant Dawn Link for providing her with a place to stay in Texas.

“I really believe in having a good bond with your horse,” she said. “I honestly think it makes them work better. My very first pro horse, Matlock—Good Little Nick—you kind of had to sit with him and bond with me and make him feel special. That made him come into himself and work really well.”

Praise started her Texas futurity run with a sixth-place finish at the Lone Star Shootout Futurity for another $5,763.

Manning did, however, make a little adjustment between the two events.

"I did ride her in a different tiedown," she said. "I just felt like it was a little bit stronger. When I went to pull (on her in) the first round of Lone Star she was a bit dull. Right after that round, I went home and put her in her pen for a couple of hours then I got back on her and did a bit of pulling around. I think it made her a little softer and respond to my hand a little bit better. After that she worked really good in the next couple of rounds."

Praise's lifetime earnings in just two short months are just under $36,000. Manning's mom, Shelly, is hoping they get to keep the mare with the money available to be won at the futurities and incentive events.

"What we've tried to do the past couple of years is sell our good horses and make a business out of it that way, but my mom really doesn't want me to sell her," Manning said. "She thinks I should keep her and futurity on her."

Manning, who hails from Edson, Alberta, opted to come to Texas for the winter rather than her usual destination of Arizona, plans on staying through March.

The 20-year-old has really enjoyed competing with the top futurity trainers at the Hamilton, Texas, events.

"All the futurity trainers are so nice," she said. "It was really cool to be in that atmosphere with them. I've always wanted to be a futurity trainer. That's my end goal. Just being around them makes you more motivated. They're so nice and kind. They just want to see the horse do good."

Hall Wins West Regionals for $16K, Trip To American

By Julie Mankin

Despite earnings now topping $1.2 million, 11-year-old Dusky Lynn Hall knows of one thing that's eluded her – a chance to win The American.

In 2015, 9-year-old Chayni Chamberlain won $40,000 at The American Semi-Finals and was featured on ESPN's SportsCenter. And in 2018, Hall watched 10-year-old London Gorham do the same.

"That's always been my goal," said Hall, who was 4 at the time. "I watched London and said, 'Mom, I want to go there.' So we've been working to go there for a long time."

In 2023, she made it to Globe Life Field out of the Central Regionals in Tulsa, but her left-handed horse Dexter got past the first barrel in the wide-open baseball stadium and they didn't advance. Then last year at the Central Regionals short round in Oklahoma City, her horse Wally got scared and took the bit just enough to put them in the crying hole to make it back to Arlington.

Turns out, Vegas might be just what the doctor ordered. A few weeks ago, at the Vegas Tuffest World Championships and the All In Barrel Race, among others, the diminutive superstar raked in about $85,000 as estimated by her mother, also named Dusky Hall, and broke her own arena record – four times.

Then Dusky Lynn turned around at The American West Regionals on Jan. 9-11, and won the average on two runs in the South Point arena – the top 10 of which make the clean-slate finals, from which five go to Arlington. She was on her palomino Ain't Seen Famous Yet ("Wally"), by the Frenchmans Guy/Dash Ta Fame product Ain't Seen Nothin Yet and out of a race-bred mare. "My goal was just to be in the top five," said Dusky Lynn. "I just wanted clean runs."

But she'd spanked the field in the second round by three-tenths with the only sub-15-second run.

"Our plan was for her to run Wally in the preliminary rounds and switch to Dexter for the finals, because Dexter thrives at rodeos and Wally is scared of noise and bulls and ropes," said Dusky. "But she told me she felt confident on Wally and wanted to stick with him." Dusky kept the team a long way from the South Point building until it was go-time, and hoped for the best. Sure enough, the rodeo environment jazzed Wally up so much that he took the bit in the alley, popping Dusky Lynn's little head back and making Dusky think it would be a repeat of OKC.

"Every time he takes off like that, he just runs off," said Dusky Lynn. "He doesn't like rodeos. But I knew it was deep. In deep ground, Dexter will come over a barrel. I knew Wally wasn't going to hit a barrel. It scares him to hit one! So, I knew I'd either be taking a chance of rolling down a barrel or I'd have to just make Wally work. And he performed his best for me!"

Wally ate the first barrel and, sure enough, made super-moves to avoid hitting second. They clocked another 14-second run to whip the field – including Hall-of-Fame barrel racer Sherry Cervi – by a full two-tenths of a second and earn $15,748 total.

"That place was like a rock concert," said Dusky. "And there's a reason we call him 'Watchy Wally.' Not only that, but she was nervous. I've never seen my kid nervous before. But she was smart enough to just sit quiet instead of pushing him. He was running so hard because he was scared. And she got her second trip to Globe Life Field?"

In Arlington on April 11, the Contender Finals will pay $15,000 for first, and send five to The American the following day. It will air on Fox Sports on April 11 at 8:30 p.m. Eastern. On April 12, the Round of 10 will send the four fastest to the finals for that $100,000 first-place prize – and a potential $1 million bonus.

"I just need to go out there and make clean, smooth runs," said Dusky Lynn.

If she makes the Round of 10, the little girl will face 2024's top five barrel racers in the world. But even besting the likes of Cervi? It's nothing special to this fifth-grader.

"I just try to be my best," she said.

National Western Stock Show Rodeo Action Underway

By Susan Kanode for the National Western Stock Show

For over a decade, the National Western Stock Show has kicked off rodeo action in the Denver Coliseum with Colorado Versus the World.

The first performance at the 119th edition of the Denver tradition featured contestants representing rodeos from the world in bareback riding, steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding, women's barrel racing and bull riding. Those eight rodeos included the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo, Rodeo Austin, Rodeo Houston, and the San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo in Texas, Dodge City Round-Up in Kansas, Wyoming's Cheyenne Frontier Days, Rodeo Rapid City in South Dakota and Canada's Calgary Stampede.

The best four from the World performance advanced to Saturday night's performance to face off against the best four from the Colorado team. The matinee performance was all Colorado with contestants representing the National Western, the Elizabeth Stampede, the Greeley Stampede, Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo in Colorado Springs, the Larimer County Fair Rodeo in Loveland and the Colorado State Fair Rodeo in Pueblo.

When it was all said and done, four contestants from the World team and four from the Colorado team competed on Saturday night where each team got one spot in a winner-take-all shootout. Three out of five championships were won by contestants representing the World rodeos. It started out with Ben Kramer in the bareback riding who was representing the Dodge City (Kansas) Round-Up. Kramer scored 90 points to earn the first $8,000 check of the night.

In the steer wrestling, Nick Guy stopped the clock in 4.52 seconds for the championship. He also was on the World team for the San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo in Texas.

The saddle bronc riding saw a battle of the Wrights. Spencer Wright rode for Rodeo Houston on the World team and Statler Wright represented the Greeley Stampede for Colorado. Statler is Spencer's nephew, and he emerged victorious with a 91-point ride to win the first title for team Colorado.

Katelyn Scott took her horse around the cloverleaf pattern in 15.119 seconds to win the barrel racing for the world team. She rode in the Denver Coliseum for Canada's Calgary Stampede.

Team Colorado got the bull riding when Parker McCown was the only man to make the eight-seconds. McCown represented the Rooftop Rodeo in Estes Park.

Super Saturday came to a close with each champion earning a pair of championship spurs to go with their $8,000 checks.

Sunday's events will see a cross-cultural entertainment in the Mexican Rodeo Extravaganza in the Denver Coliseum. Performances are at 2 and 6:30 p.m.

RODEOHOUSTON Once Again Draws Top Musical Acts

Last week, RODEOHOUSTON announced another jampacked and star-studded music lineup for its upcoming March 4-24 run at NRG Stadium in Houston.

WHAT TO WATCH

WESTERN SPORTS ROUNDUP
JAN. 6-10, 6 PM, RE-AIR @ 7 PM ET
COWBOY CHANNEL+

This year, RODEOHOUSTON welcomes 20 different musical acts set to perform during the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo. It showcases a diverse lineup that includes various country music, pop, rock, regional Mexican, Christian, R&B and hip-hop artists.

"Each season, the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo aims to bring a strong lineup of artists that reflect our Western roots while still offering an array of music that embraces Houston's culture," said Chris Boleman, president and CEO of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Riley Green, Bailey Zimmerman, Carin León, AJR, Warren Zeiders, Grupo Frontera, Charley Crockett, Zach Top and Post Malone.

Among long-time returning Rodeo artists are Brad Paisley and Luke Bryan. This marks Paisley's 17th performance and Bryan's 12th.

Reba McEntire holds one of the organization's highest honors as the first woman inducted to RODEOHOUSTON's Star Trail of Fame in 2007. Her 2025 appearance will mark her 20th performance at the rodeo and her first time back in 18 years.

In a highly requested appearance, Grupo Frontera will make their debut on Go Tejano Day, presented by Fiesta Mart, on Sunday, March 16. For the second year, the 2025 lineup features two Latin artists, with Carin León also making his debut performance on Sunday, March 9.

The Rodeo is also thrilled to bring back fan-favorite artists, including Brooks & Dunn, Cody Jinks, Lauren Daigle, Jon Pardi, Old Dominion and the Greater Houston area's very own Parker McCollum and Bun B.

Bun B will again bring another group of popular R&B and hip-hop artists to the stage for his Birthday Bonanza this year.

Stay tuned for details about who will join his performance on Black Heritage Day, presented by Kroger, as March 7 inches closer.

Together, the 20 acts have won 67 Academy of Country Music Awards, 51 Country Music Association Awards, 34 American Music Awards, 26 Billboard Music Awards, 10 Grammy Awards and 5 Latin Grammy Awards.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Last week, Mike preached a sermon on "Gorilla Wrestling". When he said that, I immediately thought, "Do people wrestle gorilla's?" It wouldn't surprise me, I just haven't seen it.

Alligator wrestling, yes. Bear wrestling, yes. Steer wrestling, yes. After all, I do watch Animal Planet and the Cowboy Channel! The point was, "You don't quit when you're tired. You quit when the gorilla is tired!" Just keep wrestling. The adversary will quit if you don't!

Eph. 6:10-18 has our answer. When faced with a problem of any size, if we have put on the whole armor of God, we will never be defeated! Oh, the days we are in can be trying!

But we read the Bible and we know that Psalm 62:5-8 tells us that God is our defense and we will not be moved! That's really good news!

God bless you and keep you this week as you go out to wrestle whatever needs wrestling!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
