Bercegeay & Easily Smashed Toast Scorch Competition at Georgia's World Barrel Racing League World Finals

By Tanya Randall

"I certainly wasn't expecting it to be that fast, but I like it!" exclaimed Blaise Bercegeay of Summit, Miss. The 22-year-old barrel racer and her great gelding Easily Smashed Toast ("Smash") topped the World Barrel Racing League World Finals, held Feb. 8-12 in Perry, Ga.

Their 14.426 was worth $12,500. They also picked up $1,250 in the second go for total event earnings of $13,750.

"Their payout was just awesome," she added. "We don't do that very often around here. I didn't hear one negative thing about it the whole time we were there. It was great."

Ironically, Bercegeay was making her first runs back on Smash after the gelding had month-long recovery from an illness. Smash had taken ill on Christmas Eve and spent two weeks at the hospital, before coming home for another two-and-a-half weeks off.

Their first run back was on Wednesday at slack for the Dixie National PRCA Rodeo in Jackson, Miss.

"On the way to Perry I wasn't expecting anything at all about winning it," she said. "My first run was our second run back. He did good in the Sutherland Arena. He ran a 14.7. He worked really good, but he just didn't fire very hard. I ran in the Reaves Arena and he got sixth in the second go. I thought that was awesome—sixth with 1,180-something entries."

In the Finals, Smash upped his game.

"He just ran a lot harder in the Finals," she continued. "My first barrel was good, but my second barrel was awesome. I think that's where we made up our time. He really ran hard across the pen and turned the second barrel really good. The third barrel, I was kind of disappointed with myself. I kind of used my outside rein, but I guess, you've got to do, what you've got to do. It all worked out."

"He always seems to know when he's supposed to do the best."

Bred by Nolan Landry, Smash is by Toast To Dash out of the Easily Smashed mare Easy Lady Jane. Bercegeay got the gelding six years ago from longtime family friends and mentors R.E. and Martha Josey.

"He's 16 this year," she lamented. "It makes me sad. I don't even want to say that. You never have to worry about him turning. No matter where you go—how big or how small the pattern is—he's going to find the first barrel and turn it. It's just whether or not he's going to run or not."

"If I had one wish it would be to have him all over again, seven or eight years ago."

Bercegeay, who is getting married to Sawyer Sparks on September 2, wanted to thank veterinarians Greg Ford and Chat Kleinpeter, equine

Fundraiser rodeo takes in $25,000 for 30 charities

The Rotary Rodeo in Starkville, Miss., raised $25,000 for local charities, and had a record turnout Feb. 10-11.

"It's our largest fundraiser of the year, and supports all of our charitable events," said Trey Breckenridge, the rodeo chair for the Starkville Rotary Club. "All the proceeds go toward community, humanitarian and educational charities."

The club plans to spread the $25,000 across 30 different charities, including the Boys and Girls Club and Habitat for Humanity, while also buying dictionaries for elementary school students in the area.

"It will help a huge number of projects," Breckenridge said.

Although the rodeo isn't one of the biggest of the year in terms of payouts, it did attract some big names, such as 2016 World Champion Steer Wrestler Tyler Waguespack, who split the win with Tooter Silver at 4.2 seconds.

"It's very exciting to have that caliber of contestant here," Breckenridge said.

"That's incredible, for a rodeo like Starkville to raise that much money," Waguespack said, noting it felt good to know that just by competing there he and the other contestants played a role in the club's fundraising efforts. "I hope they have the same success next year."

The grandstands were filled both nights for a total of 6,000 attendees.

"It was the largest attendance we've ever had," Breckenridge said. "And we had the largest number of contestants we've ever seen, and the most bull riders, too - right at 50 bull riders."

The Rotary Rodeo added additional prize money for bull riding last year to draw in more contestants, and Breckenridge speculated it was starting to have an impact this year. He said the Rotary Club also extended its reach to attract more people to the rodeo.

"We have really grown this event, and the community views it as the rodeo," Breckenridge said.

"It's awesome for a small rodeo to have such a big production," Waguespack said. "It draws bigger name guys, and people will want to come compete."

Eighty-One Horses Top $10,000 Mark at Triangle Sale

The excitement of a positive sale environment was unmistakable among buyers, sellers and spectators during the recent Triangle Winter Sale in Shawnee, Okla., Jan. 27-28. During the two-day event, 81 head of the 456 horses that sold went for $10,000 or more. The consistently strong sales led to a net average of $6,200 on an 85 percent sales completion (less those withdrawn).

The Winter Sale totals are among the best for the venue and make it one of the top producing sales since Jim Ware of Weatherford, Texas, purchased Triangle Sales in the fall of 2014. Triangle's "Top $10,000 Club," established for horses fetching sale prices of $10,000 or more, reached 141 total members for the entire year in 2016. Ware says selling 81 head for more than $10,000 in one sale is a remarkable achievement and a big market indicator.

He attributes this success to the Triangle sale structure, geared for providing a range of quality horses in multiple disciplines. Ware also thinks the lagging horse market, repressed by economic and political factors, is beginning to gain solid momentum.

"I think the market has in part been very politically driven," Ware said. "We had three sales in October before the [presidential] election, and people were uneasy about their spending. The sales remained successful, but it wasn't an easy thing to do."

"I think people with horse interests feel more encouraged about the future now," Ware continued. "Hopefully, we're about to have a lot of fun in the industry."

"Also, there is more of a shortage in terms of horses on the market because of the cycle we've been experiencing, and things are picking back up for demand - if you've got good ones to sell it is going to be a particularly good time."

The recent Winter Sale's Top 10 averaged $25,800 and $16,700 into the Top 50. While Ware's first sale with Triangle averaged $6,500 in January 2015, he says strong sales did not run as deep; the slightly higher average was gained with the help of some loftier stand out purchases.

"The January 2015 sale had a lot of expensive horses," Ware said. "We had a stallion that topped the sale at $125,000 (One Fabulous Time, One Time Pepto x Cat Mist x High Brow Cat). When you look at this recent sale, the average is pretty close and the highest horse we sold was only $47,000. So, the strength was throughout the sale. There were a lot of good horses to choose from, top to bottom."

The $47,000 high seller Ware referred to was a 2009 palomino stallion, Von Step At A Time (Wimpys Little Step x Von Freckles x Colonel Freckles). The stallion was consigned by Cannon Quarter Horses, Waxahachie, Texas, and purchased by Gaylon and Paulette Hayes, of Oklahoma City.

This was the first time in several years that a reining-bred horse has been the high seller at Triangle. Recent sales have seen this designation consistently go to cutting horses.

"It wasn't just the cutting horses that were selling well," Ware said of the Winter Sale. "Horses sold good in each of the sessions. We had a lot of nice ranch geldings that were gentle, rode beautifully and were really nice horses. They averaged good at $6,150."

Hillis Akin, a longtime reining and reined cow horse breeder based in Gainesville, Texas, sold seven for an average of $11,500. High averages by session for the Winter Sale were: Cutting Show Horses at $12,400, closely followed by Reining Show Horses, at $10,600.

The second high individual seller was Spots Super (Spots Hot x Highbrow Supercat x Highbrow Cat), a 2012 cutting mare consigned by Slate River Ranch of Weatherford, Texas. The mare sold for $37,000 to Reece Rakestraw of Woodward, Okla.

Third high was CD Dually (CD Olena x Lilly Dual by Dual Pep), which sold for $27,500. The 2010 sorrel gelding was consigned by Paul Smith, Midland, Texas, and purchased by David Murray of Bullard, Texas.

Triangle's next event is the Spring Sale, slated for April 28 and 29th. This will be followed by a Summer Sale, Aug. 11 and 12th. The 2017 Fall Sale is scheduled for Oct. 26-28, which will include one full day for the Triangle Sales' Future Fortunes Select Sale. All of Triangle's currently scheduled sales will be based in Shawnee at the Heart of Oklahoma Expo Center.

Best Advice si 105

(Corona Cartel x Sweet Advice, Bully Bullion)

"Walt" is out of a daughter of BULLY BULLION, one of the Leading Sires of Barrel Horses.

Walt is a Proven Sire of Winners!

- Earners of over $670,000
- Over 52% Winners from starters!
- $15,273 Avg Earnings PER Starter!

Best Advice is showing that he is another good sire by Corona Cartel as his Sire Stats are fantastic from the limited number of runners he has. We're very excited to see what his barrel horses will do as the feedback has been terrific. His colts are inheriting his outstanding disposition, as they are of sound mind and very trainable, as well as showing amazing athletic ability! We will see many Champions in his future!

Powerful Genetics, Impeccable Conformation & Exceptional Disposition!

GENETICS...

By Leading Sire Frenchmans Guy.

Out of Queens Coin, one of the Industry's All Time Leading Producers! Dam of Sissys Little Coin $242,000+ (and a producer herself); Queens Streakin Coin $92,976, Superior Race Horse; plus many more! MARE POWER!

CONFORMATION...

Hands down, one of the Best Looking sons of Frenchmans Guy as we're told time and time again. "Pockets" is a 15.2 massively built horse on a strong bone frame, a well-muscled body, and plenty of Beauty and Balance.

DISPOSITION...

Pockets has such a good temperament that he is used out on the cattle ranch by his owners the Flitner's. His offspring are showing the same good minds. They are impressive enough that almost every breeder has either bred back to him or searched for prospects to buy.

The future is very bright for this handsome horse!

Brooks & Parr For Brookstone Capture World Barrel Racing League's World Finals Futurity

By Tanya Randall

A consistent performance for Craig Brooks and Parr For Brookstone netted a $3,976 futurity victory at the World Barrel Racing League's World Finals, held Feb. 8-12 in Perry, Ga. The futurity was exceptionally challenging for young horses due to the fact they had to stay consistent while running in two different arenas.

"That was a bit different from anything I've had to do with a futurity colt before, but they handled it well," said Brooks. "The arenas were pretty close to the same size."

Brooks and "The Brookstone" placed third in both go-rounds to win the average.

"The first go, I probably could have let him go on a little bit harder," Brooks said. "He went his pace on through and he cut the clock off" pretty good. He ended up being right after the big drag both go's, so he kind of had to get through that. He's just really strong and really fast. He can really cut the clock off."

Bred by the Kendrix Brothers of Altus, Okla., the 4-year-old gelding is by the late Brookstone Bay out of Parr For the Moon, an own daughter of the legendary Moon Lark. The Brookstone is owned by Trey Honeycutt and Amber Hall of Lancaster, S.C. Brooks started riding the gelding last fall.

"Trey had him started and going along," he said. "I had just stepped on him a couple of jackpots and ran him over a six-week time span, a couple, three times. I took him home from there and started going with him. We took him to the first futurity of the year, but just ran him in the open. We took him to the (Southern Rebel) Futurity in Augusta and won it."

Brooks, who won the 2016 BFA Yearend Championship with Heavens Sakes, ran seven head at the WBRL World Finals. He also placed third in the Futurity with Aint No Crazy Lady and 12th with Grandiose Guy.

"Fortunately, I had a lot of help to get me through," he said. "The second day, the arena was quite a ways from our stalls and there's no way I could have done it without a lot of help."

Brooks also got three head of his futurity colts back in the open finals.

"We didn't have any luck," he said. "It's kind of a lot on those colts, making that many trips early in the year, but there was enough money up that I couldn't help but try."

The futurity schedule doesn't lighten up anytime soon for him either. He was in Kinder, La., for the LG Pro Classic at the time of this interview.

"He's probably going to run in the slot race here, so that's another four runs," said Brooks. "It's kind of stacked up on us right now. We could have stayed out for The Patriot (in Fort Worth) but we'll go back home. There's a futurity in Georgia that we will probably go to and then it's back out for (the Lucky Dog Futurity) in Texarkana and then Diamonds & Dirt (in Waco, Texas). I didn't want to stay and go to The Patriot because that would have put us gone three weekends in a row."

Brooks said not only would that be incredibly hard on the horses, it would be hard on his family too. His wife Elan is expecting their second child in April, so his horses will be getting another break from competition that month.

Rodeo's best athletes will be showcased throughout The American competition

Courtesy of RFD-TV's The American

The best rodeo competitors – both two-legged and four-legged – from around the world will be featured this week at The American Semi-Finals and RFD TV's The American presented by Polaris RANGER.

The stature of these events demands the best livestock from across the U.S. and Canada. Competition for the Semi-Finals begins with a special "Bulls and Breakfast" competition at 9 a.m. on Wednesday. Nearly 70 bull riders will be challenging bulls from D&H Cattle Company, Chad Berger, Rockin R Rodeo and J.W. Hart, who all provide bulls for the Professional Bull Riders (PBR). D&H Cattle Company, owned by Dillon and H.D. Page, and Berger are award-winning stock contractors in the PBR.

When The American Semi-Finals starts Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m., the reigning and two-time stock contractor of the year in the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA), Frontier Rodeo of Winnie, Texas, will be at the helm. There will also be bucking horses from C5 Rodeo of Canada, Mo Betta Rodeo of Oklahoma, Burch Rodeo of Wyoming, Dakota Rodeo of North Dakota and Silver Creek Pro Rodeo of Kansas.

The bucking horse or bull is responsible for half of the score in the bareback riding, saddle bronc riding and bull riding. With $3 million in prize money on the line for contestants, they don't take that responsibility lightly.

"We're going to have buckers at every performance," said Heath Stewart, rodeo manager for Frontier Rodeo. "When we get to The American nearly all of the bucking horses will have been in Las Vegas." Those horses were selected to perform at the National Finals Rodeo. Some of the animals have world titles of their own. Medicine Woman, who will buck in AT&T Stadium on Sunday, is one of the most decorated horses in all of rodeo. She is a four-time PRCA saddle bronc horse of the year that will be featured in the Shootout round. Show Stomper will be the horse to have in the final four in bareback riding. The 10-year-old gelding took Taylor Price to a $600,000 payday at The American in 2015. Tanner Aus won the rodeo and $100,000 last year on the Show Stomper. Whoever has the opportunity to ride him this year will have a winning record on their side.

"The American Semi-Finals and The American are truly events that are unlike any other," said Billy Frey, manager of RFD-TV Events. "It brings the best elements of professional rodeo and bull riding together. And with the qualification system, it gives rising stars the opportunity to compete against the best."

Nearly $1 million in prize money will be paid through the semi-finals. Friday night's performance will determine the qualifiers for The American where they will be competing at the world's richest one-day rodeo for a portion of $2 million.

Sunday's rodeo action gets underway at 1 p.m. at AT&T Stadium, home of the Dallas Cowboys. It is also the only rodeo in the United States where fans can be entertained by clown/barrelman Flint Rasmussen. Rasmussen is a long-time star of the PBR and is host of "Outside the Barrel" on SiriusXM's Rural Radio channel 147.

Making A Move -- Amber Moore & CP Dark Moon Win Bell County PRCA Rodeo

By Tanya Randall

Wrangler National Finals Rodeo sensation Amber Moore got off to an incredibly tough start to the 2017 season, facing everything from the flu to an equipment failure that left her on the arena floor in Fort Worth.

The Salem, Ore., barrel racer has made up for her slow start by winning the $2,000-added Bell County PRCA Rodeo in Belton, Texas. Moore and her great mare CP Dark Moon ("Paige") turned in a 15.36 in a Friday night performance to win the rodeo by nearly 3/10ths. The victory was worth $2,466.

"I should fall off more often," Moore decided. "Now, I'm just a passenger because I hurt so bad and she's loving it. My tailbone hurts, my head hurts, my shoulder hurts—I'm just going along for the ride." Moore, who jumped from 15th to the Reserve World Championship in 2016, took a month off after the 2016 WNFR and even spent a relaxing week in the Caribbean to rest up for the hectic winter run. Her plans for an early season jump were thwarted when snowstorms forced her to turn out of the National Western in Denver.

"I tried to get to Denver but couldn't get out, so I headed down to Arizona and waylaid there for a couple days before heading to Texas," Moore recalled. From Texas, she headed to Rapid City, S.D., where she got the flu. "It was nasty cold and that flu was about the worse thing I've had in a long time. I had my trailer set at 80 degrees and then I'd open all the windows up I was sweating head to toe. My joints hurt so bad I couldn't even carry hay to my horses. It was all I could do to feed them."

Moore made it to Fort Worth, where she placed well on her first

Right past the timer, Paige bucked and Moore came off.

Already heavily medicated just to be able to ride while ill, all that Moore remembers was bailing off.

“Going to Rapid City, getting the flu, making my first run in Fort Worth sicker than a dog and then having my saddle come off—that was just awesome,” Moore deadpanned. “They said I was already out when I hit the ground, which means when my head spun my vertigo from the flu had already blacked me out.”

The only good to come out of it—besides the fact Moore and Paige picking up $4,250 in Fort Worth—was that Moore’s misfortune inspired hundreds of barrel racers to check the status of their equipment.

Following Fort Worth, Moore and Paige had a couple of days off before starting their February run of rodeos. Everywhere they’ve run since the accident has been in the money thus far.

As of Tuesday morning, Moore and Paige hold the lead at the $10,000-added Dixie Nationals in Jackson, Miss., which ends mid-week on Wednesday, and they’re also leading the two-run average going into this weekend’s short go at the $20,000-added San Angelo Rodeo in Texas.

In the meanwhile, they start their three-run set at San Antonio on Tuesday and will have the short at San Angelo on Friday before RFD-TV’s The American on Sunday. Unlike the past two years, where poor draws hampered their quest to get beyond the Semifinals rodeo, Moore will head straight to Arlington, Texas, for the big show this year.

“I’m really happy to be skipping the Semifinals Rodeo,” she said. “Northside isn’t one of Paige’s favorites. My husband and daughter are going to be here too, so I’m really excited about that.”

Moore, who sits 12th in the WPROA World Standings with $13,355, wanted to thank her family and her family of friends that helped her get down the road, especially those who have helped her over her recent road bumps. She also wanted to thank her sponsors: Professional’s Choice, Cowgirl Tuff, Tight Joints Plus, Earl’s Garage, GJ Logging, Champion Feed, Katie’s Coast To Coast, Murray Hay Sales, Be A Legend, Silver Lining Herbs, Purina, BRN4D, House Top H Ranch, CR Ranchwear, MR4 Activet, Belle Star, Double J Saddlery, 5 Star Pads, OE Nutraceuticals and Back On Track.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Remember when we talked about a book written about us? A book that helped people to understand us, The Sherry Manual 101? Well, let's take that a little further and let's ask ourselves just what that book would say.

When we read Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, we are learning how Jesus walked this earth. It's about Him healing people and delivering them from all sorts of stuff. It's about His love walk and how He gives us direction so we can walk victorious in our own lives. It's about how He never sinned, though He was tempted, Hebrews 2:18. The best part is how He defeated the devil. It was as simple as Jesus telling the devil, "it is written". So when we have trouble, we only need to remember the answer and then just talk that answer, Matthew 4:1-10.

Now I know that sometimes this is all easier said than done. It's easier for me to pray for someone that is hurting and believe, than to pray for myself when I'm the one that's hurting! But the goal is still the same. We get healed and the devil gets defeated. Sometimes it's through the trial, or over the trial, or around the trial. But we don't pitch a tent and stay there. We keep moving toward the answer.

So. What do you think? In your story, at the end, do you want it to describe how you won.....or how you quit?
