Sara Winkelman & Fairway Ta Fame Tee Up $27,000 Fort Worth Victory

By Tanya Randall

Time was running out for Sara Winkelman as she faced The Green Mile at Pendleton, Oregon. The Big Lake, Minnesota, barrel racer was on the cusp of her dream, a National Finals Rodeo qualification on her homegrown star Fairway Ta Fame (“Rory”).

At 16th in the WPRA World Standings, she needed to win a lot of money and gain Playoff Tour points to qualify for the Governor’s Cup in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. It wasn’t meant to be.

Winkelman headed home to give the sole earner of her more than $91,000 a much needed rest for the 2024 season.

“There were some things that were getting to be challenging to manage there at the end,” Winkelman said. “When it mathematically stopped working there was no reason for us to keep going. It was about going home and taking care of Rory.”

When 2024 rolled around, Winkelman started to second guess Rory’s eight-week long break, from a physical standpoint for him—he got a little chunky—and from a standings position for her—she had zero won going into the season.

“When the season started, I was feeling bad about it for a minute,” she said. “I didn’t go to anything last fall and now I’m at zero. Am I going to be OK? I hit a barrel in Denver, so nothing there. Odessa didn’t go well and Rapid (City) didn’t go well.”

But they made it count at the biggest one so far, taking home a $27,000 championship from the $126,000 Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo, held January 19 through February 3.

“We made it count at the big one,” she said. “It was awesome! It was definitely cool!”

Fort Worth is a limited entry rodeo with the Top 45 in the 2023 WPRA World Standings making up the majority of the field and the rest of the field of 56 filled by various criteria including the winners of the following Texas circuit rodeos: Waxahachie, Gladewater, Cleburne, Wichita Falls, Mineral Wells, Weatherford and Denton. The rodeo featured seven brackets of eight contestants competing in two rounds. The top two money earners from each bracket moved on to one of two semifinals performances. The third richest money earner went to a wild card round, where the top two would advance to one of the two semifinals. The top four from each semifinals qualified for the lucrative clean slate final.

Winkelman was originally scheduled for a later bracket but traded with Jamie Olsen for the second. Having hit a barrel in Denver, Winkelman had a more flexible schedule than Olsen, who was progressing at the National Western.

“I went from Denver straight to Fort Worth and ran in Jamie’s original set,” she explained. “I was last on the ground on my first run. He still made a great run. He just had a pretty big stumble on the back side of the second that cost us some time, and we ended up third that night. The order flipped and we were first out on the ground the next night. He made a good run to win the second round and move us on.

“The thing about both of those first two runs I was asking him to turn a hair too soon on the first barrel. I watched the first bracket where so many people had trouble with that first barrel on the right hand side with it set off the fence quite ways. I got a little bit conservative going to it and then had to work to get his hip clear of it those first two runs.”

Winkelman headed home to Minnesota after her first two runs to spend time with family during the hectic winter runs. She has both of her young children, ages 4 and 6, with her.

After six days at home, Winkelman ran at Rapid City before returning to Fort Worth for the semifinals. She planned on being a little more aggressive on her runs, and it paid off handsomely with a win.

“I had in my mind that he was going to be honest on the first barrel so I should send him a little harder,” she said. “I thought he still turned the first really nice even with me letting him go a little harder. The rest was easy. That was the fastest run at Fort Worth for this year’s rodeo. That was exciting.”

For the Finals, Winkelman was going with the same game plan as the night before.

“We didn’t quite get that accomplished,” she admitted. “He was a lot stronger in the alley than he had been. He took off a lot sooner than I would have liked him to. In the practice pen, I’ll grab a hold of him and correct him but in a run, I don’t like to break his confidence, so I just let him be. We took off way back so we were rolling to the first barrel. I thought we got by it just a touch more than we had the other three runs. He turned a nice second and had a beautiful third. My saddle slipped a little bit, so I was kind of trying to stay in the middle. I may have looked like a floppy fish trying to hustle him but not move too much! I was just trying to stay in the middle.”

Sissy Winn and A R Dash Ta Flame gave a game chase, but no one could touch Winkelman and Rory’s run from the top of the ground.

“It was fate I guess that I drew up first on the ground in both the semifinals and the finals,” she said. “That seems pretty incredible.” Winkelman, a speech pathologist until she left her job last year to rodeo, got Rory when she bred her Perks Alive mare Fair Lady Perks to Streaking Ta Fame. Rory trained very easily as Winkelman worked with him around the birth of both of her children.

As a 5-year-old futurity horse, Rory won several championships including the Fizz Bomb. The following year, he started his rodeo career. In 2022, he carried Winkelman to the Great Lakes Circuit Finals Championship, which set them on the path for an NFR run in the 2023 season.

Armed with the knowledge she gained in 2023 coupled with entries into the lucrative winter rodeos—something she didn’t have access to before—Winkelman is set to try her hand again. She currently sits second in the WPRA World Standings with $27,000.

Rapid Run For Tayla Moeykens & KN Fames Best Yet at Black Hills Rodeo

By Tanya Randall

Montana Circuit Finals Champion Tayla Moeykens of Three Forks, Montana, picked up a $4,924 victory at the $13,500-added Black Hills Stock Show & Rodeo, held February 1-3 in Rapid City, South Dakota. She and her 6-year-old gelding KN Fames Best Yet (“Yeti”) out paced Katie Chism and MF Aces Famous Fling by .02 on Alan Woodbury’s By A Nose Timers for the victory.

Moeykens, who was out midway through the draw in the Friday night performance, said she was just trying to make a “confidence boosting run” on the young gelding, who carried her to a reserve finish at last year’s College National Finals Rodeo.

“As amazing as he is and as well as he handles everything, he’s still only 6,” she said. “With him, we always say we’re still seasoning him. We want to make the best confidence boosting run that we can that day. So a lot of times, I just go through the gate just to make a good, solid run for him and for me.

“I went through the gate at Rapid and I was going to help him out at the first barrel, but he was like ‘I’ve got it,’ and I was like, ‘OK! I’ll get out of your way!’ He actually felt comfortable with that setup because it was similar to how the CNFR is. He loves the crowd. That’s never seemed to bother him. He thrives off of it.”

Yeti joined Moeykens’ team of horses last spring. The gelding, by all-time leading barrel horse sire Dash Ta Fame out of Kenny Nichols and Dale Barron’s Frenchmans Fabulous mare KN Fabulous N Khaki came from Kava Huestis in Great Falls, Montana.

Before the start of the 2023 spring college rodeos, Moeykens, the 2021 College National Finals Champion, was left horseless.

KN Fames Best Bet “Yeti” 16.1 h, 1,300 lbs.

BIT: Sherry Cervi lifter

SADDLE: Scott Thomas

SADDLE PAD: Reinsman

LEG GEAR: Polo wraps on all four; bells boots

SHOEING: Lite Rims on all four; shod by her father, Rick

FEED: Triple Crown Senior Gold and 30% Ration Balancer

HAY: Grass/alfalfa mix

SUPPLEMENTS: Golden ground flax from Triple Crown, Mazola oil, aloe vera

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Massage therapy from her father Rick, RevitaVet Laser, FlexiNeb treatments and Flair Strip for runs

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: “Keeping his energy levels under control,” she laughed. “He has a lot of energy. It’s mainly just exercise and keeping him soft. His barrel work is very minimal because he’s such a good boy, I don’t have to pick at him very much.”

SPONSORS: Flair Equine Nasal Strips, Delicious Horse Treats, Triple Crown Feed, Flexineb, Montana Picker, Arctic Spas, Vance Thompson Vision, Montana Equine, RX Equine, MCM Truck Repair, MG Equine Services, LLC, Easy Lawn Hydroseeding, MK Rodeo Journals.

THANKS: To parents Rick and Deena “for their never-ending love and support,” family, friends and sponsors “for helping me chase my dreams,” and especially Blue, Lizard and Yeti.

Her good mare Dash of Blue Sky (“Blue”) and JM Pockets Double Dash (“Lizard”) were both out with injury.

“I was trying to find a horse to borrow for the college rodeos and hopefully make the CNFR,” Moeykens explained. “I ended up calling Kava and she graciously lent me two of her horses, Yeti and Rio.”

Although both young horses were in need of rodeo seasoning it was Yeti who caught on the quickest.

“Yeti just turned it on and amazed all of us,” Moeykens said of the gelding by all-time leading barrel horse sire Her family purchased the gelding after the CNFR.

Now with three sound horses, the trouble is deciding who to ride. Blue or Yeti usually get the call for the smaller indoor pens as Lizard prefers the bigger indoor setups. All three do well outside.

“We usually look at ground conditions,” Moeykens said. “Blue likes it harder. Lizard is more of our mudder. Yeti likes it deeper. We just look at the setup and ground conditions to see who to run.”

Yeti, however, got the call for Rapid. As the youngster of the bunch, he could take the miles of a mad dash to the Black Hills, almost eight hours away.

“We didn’t want to put the miles on Blue because she is 18,” Moeykens said of her mare that swept the Montana Circuit Finals Rodeo in early January. “We try to save her for the rodeos that we know she likes and a little closer to home just so she doesn’t have those hauling miles on her. We knew it was going to be a quick turnaround trip for us. We left Thursday night after I got out of class and my dad got off of work and we were back by Saturday afternoon.”

Moeykens will graduate with a degree in business marketing with a minor in small business and entrepreneurship this May from Montana State University in Bozeman. She has one more shot at a CNFR qualification this spring and currently leads the Big Sky Region standings going into the spring rodeos. She’ll add a few pro rodeos when they fit into her schedule.

“My mom is going to go back down to Arizona for about a month and I have spring break during that time, so I’ll run a few of those down there,” she said. “We’re hopefully going to enter Redmond (Oregon) which is the weekend before (the first spring college rodeo in) Bozeman. After I graduate, if I’m fortunate enough to make the CNFR, we’ll go down south and try to rodeo for a month before coming back to Casper.”

Moeykens currently sits No. 9 in the WPRA World Standings with $16,751.

High-stakes barrel race on tap for Wrangler BFI Week

The huge climate-controlled arena with great ground at the Lazy E Ranch will host a brand-new 2D barrel race this spring that's expected to pay $16,650 to win the average and $7,326 to win a round.

On the heels of 2024 Wrangler BFI Week presented by Yeti, Wild West Promotions will produce the open barrel race on April 4-5, with no memberships required to enter. Ricky Hibbeler is in charge of ground conditions, including a rake after every three runners with a big drag after every 30.

"Our BFI Week has the Lazy E busting at the seams, it's grown so much," said Daren Peterson, who with co-owner Corky Ullman moved the prestigious Bob Feist Invitational and its accompanying team ropings from Reno, Nevada, to Guthrie during the pandemic. "We love the demand, and it made sense to add a weekend to allow for growth and create shorter days during BFI Week. It's a great opportunity to fill that, now, with an event that is truly showcased in that arena."

Exhibitions will be offered both days from 8 – 11:30 a.m., with the race starting at noon each day (reverse draw the second day). Entry fees are $2,000 with a 92.5 percent payout (40 percent in the rounds and 60 percent in the average of both divisions). Also offered are sidepots for futurity and derby horses, ESA members, and adult, senior and youth riders. Plus, you can enter the Women's Rodeo World Championships sidepot, which includes nomination.

Pre-entries close on March 29, entering via the NextGen Rodeo app. Late entries are accepted with a $50 late fee, and you can break the fees into weekly or monthly payment plans. To download the free NextGen Rodeo app and get entered, visit EquineSportsAlliance.com.

That Friday night after the barrel race, at 7 p.m. in the Lazy E's Gold Buckle Cantina, Ullman Peterson Events will host a calcutta for the following day's $10,000-added open steer roping – the first stand-alone steer roping held there in 11 years.

The barrel race and steer roping are two of several new events recently added inside the world's largest indoor equestrian arena, which still hosts the Timed Event Championship of the World and now includes the Barrel Futurities of America (BFA) World Championships, the World Championship Junior Rodeo, the Platinum Medal Roping Futurity, and the WCRA's Stampede at the E.

"We have a number of improvements taking place over the next 12-18 months," said Lazy E General Manager Dan Wall. "We're adding some new permanent stalls and a 30,000-square-foot multipurpose building to house trade shows and horse sales, plus we'll add a new office building for event producers, and a new shower and restroom facility."

FWSSR Pro Rodeo Tournament closes with big money earners

by Susan Kanode for the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo

The 127th Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo ended on Saturday night with champions crowned at the FWSSR Pro Rodeo Tournament in Dickies Arena.

It's taken seven brackets, a wild card round, two semi-finals and the championship round to see who would rise to the top. After 18 rodeo performances, the $1.2 million rodeo closed with a bang.

Some of those wins came with challenges, but the challenge just made it more meaningful for bareback rider Rocker Steiner from nearby Weatherford. Steiner was the final rider of the night and knew that he had to score over 91.5 points to earn his second consecutive title here.

He also was confident that he had the horse to do that on in Calgary Stampede's Blasting Sand. Early in the ride, there was an equipment failure early in the ride, so he got to get on another horse. Steiner grabbed his bareback rigging, ran back to the bucking chutes and got ready to do it all again.

The second horse he climbed on was J Bar J's Straight Stick and after a successful effort the judges scored him 92.5. Steiner earned more money than any other competitor here at $28,000 and is the only repeat champion from last year.

Danielle Lowman from Gilbert, Arizona, and her great mare, She'Biz, set an arena record earlier this week at 1.6 seconds, then topped their rodeo with a win on Saturday night. Lowman is proud to represent the Navajo Nation on the rodeo trail and now they can be proud that she won her first Fort Worth championship. She stopped the clock in 1.8 for the title and won a total of $24,750.

There was a tie in steer wrestling when Tanner Brunner, from Ramona, Kansas, and Dalton Massey from Hermiston, Oregon, each stopped the clock in 3.7 seconds. Massey earned $500 more because of success in early rounds for a total of $21,500. Brunner had $21,000 and $16,000 of their earnings came from their sub-four second runs on Saturday.

Coleby Pane, from Stephenville, Texas, was 17th in the world standings last year and had to watch his team roping partner compete at the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo (NFR) without him. He and Clay Smith, from Broken Bow, Oklahoma, stopped the clock in 4.5 seconds to win the Fort Worth championship. They each added $25,000 to each their earnings in 2024.

Tie-down roper Shad Mayfield got his 2024 rodeo season off to a great start with a win here. Mayfield, from Clovis, New Mexico, stopped the clock in 7.8 seconds to earn $26,000.

In the women's barrel racing Sarah Winkelman from Big Lake, Minnesota, earned the win. After posting the fastest time of the whole rodeo during Semi-Finals B at 16.26 seconds, she came back as the first runner in the finals and stopped the clock in 16.40. She never left the top spot and added $27,000 to her earnings.

Bull rider Cody Teel has had a lot of success in his career including a world championship in 2012. He has won rodeos and bull ridings across the United States but never gotten a win at the legendary Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo – until this year.

Teel, from Bryan, Texas, scored 87 points on Rafter G Rodeo's bull named Goin Brandon for the championship. He added $25,000 to his checking account.

Saddle bronc rider Damian Brennan qualified for his first NFR in December and is well on his way to returning later this year after earning the title here. Brennan, who

Calgary Stampede & WPRA announce new Barrels & Breakaway Event

The Calgary Stampede, in partnership with the Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA), is thrilled to announce a new opportunity for the women of rodeo to compete for an exclusive spot at The Greatest Outdoor Show on Earth.

"The Calgary Stampede is proud to showcase the best-of-the-best rodeo athletes in the world," said Joel Cowley, Calgary Stampede's CEO. "This year we're pleased to add another path for both rising stars and familiar faces to qualify for our prestigious Rodeo and Rocky Mountain Cup."

The inaugural WPRA Western Region Barrels & Breakaway competition will take place in Salina, UT April 11-14. This brand new, high-caliber event is open to barrel racers and breakaway ropers from the WPRA across the United States and Canada. The marquee event for the weekend will be the Calgary Stampede qualifier. Competitors will have the chance to enter the Calgary qualifier if already entered in the WPRA Card or Permit Only race as well as the WPRA Breakaway. The top two finishers in the average standings in the Calgary qualifier barrel race and breakaway roping not already qualified will earn a spot to compete in their respective events at the 2024 Calgary Stampede. Only 30 ladies in barrel racing and 30 in breakaway roping will get the honor to compete in July in Calgary.

"The Calgary Stampede, a longtime partner of the WPRA, has always worked diligently with our association to provide as many opportunities as possible for our members to qualify into their prestigious event," said Jimmie Munroe, WPRA President. "It's very exciting to collaborate with them on a qualifier here in the United States. We hope that many of our members will take advantage of this great opportunity."

Entries will open on March 1, 2024 at www.saddlebook.com and will close on April 5, 2024. Non-WPRA members are welcome to compete during the weekend in the following races:

Futurity Race - $5,000 added

Derby Race - $2,500 added

Open 5D - $10,000 added ($5,000 each day April 13 and 14)

For more information on entries and ground rules for the Western Region Event visit www.wpra.com.

This new opportunity in the United States builds off the success of the Calgary Stampede's Barrel Racing Qualifier, which has been taking place since 2021. Canada's Calgary Stampede's qualifier continues to give athletes the opportunity to race for their chance to be part of the World's Largest Outdoor Rodeo. In addition to this opportunity at the Western Region Event in the United States, the Calgary Stampede will be hosting their Ladies Barrel Racing qualifier June 11- 12 at the Nutrien Western Event Centre. The top three from this event, not already qualified, will earn a spot in the Calgary Stampede.

Last year, breakaway roping made its Stampede debut. The event was an added feature to the Rocky Mountain Cup, and the Calgary Stampede hosted a qualifier to give the four fastest ropers a chance to compete in Canada's richest day of roping. This year, the Calgary Stampede Ladies Breakaway Roping Qualifier will take place June 4 -5 at the Nutrien Western Event Centre.

Tickets are also now on sale for the 2024 Stampede Rodeo and Evening Show, July 5-14. For the best seats in the house, get yours today by visiting CalgaryStampede.com/tickets.

Dirt Arriving for for San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo

A transformation was underway Feb. 5 at the Frost Bank Center just three days away from the San Antonio Stock Show and Rodeo. It all begins with rodeo dirt - the time-honored tradition of getting the dirt converted and moved here to the grounds at the Frost Bank Center.

More than 2,000 tons of soil will be dumped onto the grounds via dozens of truckloads. The rodeo arena soil was purchased back in 1988 near Charlotte, Texas, which is southwest of Jourdanon.

It takes about 70 truckloads to move the soil into the arena and takes around seven hours to load it in and five hours to load it back out. The dirt will stay out here for the shows, rides and competitions throughout the rodeo, which begins on Feb. 8 and lasts until Feb. 24.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Happy Valentine's Day this month! Don't forget the love of your life... Jesus! He didn't forget you! He loved us so much that He died so we could live free! What a man! What a hero! If He could love us in spite of all our faults, surely we can do the same for others. Let's not deceive ourselves and think we don't have a fault. Galatians 6:4-5 tells us that we should examine ourselves and see how we're doing, for we each have our own load of oppressive faults! Ouch! Surely it can't be us! Yes, it can. And the Bible goes on to say in Gal. 6:7 that we shouldn't be deceived. We're going to reap what we sow. The VERY good news about that verse is this... if we're sowing good things, good words, and love, we are going to reap those good things! We get to choose what's coming back on us! I want good things and I'm sure you do as well. This is a Bible no brainer. If you want good, sow good! It's easy and it's worth it! Remember how much God loves you and then pass that on to those around you!
