Karen Gleason & Mobetta Fame Sweep Valley Girls' Barrel Daze Open & Breeders Futurities

By Tanya Randall

Gleason Quarter Horses of Touchet, Washington, had a good weekend at the Valley Girls Barrel Racing Association's annual Barrel Daze, held April 12-14 in Walla Walla, Washington. Karen Gleason topped the open and breeders' futurities aboard her home-bred Mobetta Fame ("Mo"), while JD Look, a stallion owned by her and her husband Brad, sired Rebel Look, who swept the open and breeders' maturity.

Added money for the open and breeders' pots was generated through the VGBRA's legendary stallion auction. Thanks to the success of the auction, a minimum of $26,000 was added in both futurities.

Gleason and Mo picked up $13,830 for their victories. The open futurity paid $7,619, while the Stallion Incentive Program (Breeders) awarded $6,211.

"It's very rewarding as a breeder to see them take their first breath and through the training process and on to competition," noted Gleason.

Mo, a 5-year-old gelding by A Smooth Guy, was the product of an embryo transfer out of the Gleason's Dash Ta Fame mare Daves Jet Ta Fame. He received his barrel racing training when he wasn't being used to do ranch work.

"I have a trainer start all of our 2-year-olds and we take them from there," Gleason explained. "We just do whatever work we need done with them. They've been to the mountains. They've moved cattle a lot. Sorting. Lots of time in the saddle on them up there."

Gleason said Tommie Hoyecki did a lot with Mo as a colt. "She lived at our house when she was going to college here," she explained. "She did a lot of work with Mo because she liked him. She took him to the college practices. She did a lot with the colts while she was here."

Mo started his futurity career in Arizona this past January and placed in the Greg Olson Memorial Futurity.

"He just kept gaining from each run," Gleason said. "By the end, my 17.3 at the Greg Olson was his fastest time down there."

Gleason said her runs at Walla Walla were "just smooth and solid." She and Mo placed fifth in the first go with a 14.372 and were fourth in the second with a 14.379.

"He's still a little green when it comes to handling the ground, especially if it moves a little bit," she said. "On his second run, he slipped a little in his hind end. I don't think it's the ground. I think it's more him not knowing how to handle the ground. He dribbled out a little on the first, but I don't think it cost us anything. I just tried to be good and solid and smooth, not overdo anything and see where we ended up. It worked out just right.

"Consistency always pays off. I think those solid good cleans runs are what get you money rather than trying to go out and always win something is better in this game. I'd rather take home a good paycheck than shoot for the stars. Smooth always seems to get you there anyway. Plus, you don't want to overdo and ask too much of (a young horse) because it usually doesn't stay for long term either."

Gleason also picked up a 2D average check on another home-bred gelding Oliver Look, by JD Look out of the Dash Ta Fame mare Bald Ridge.

"He's a little behind," she said. "He got a crack in his foot so I was off him this winter."

Thanks to the stallion incentive program, Gleason Quarter Horses will also benefit from the efforts of Kacey Gartner's Rebel Look who won the Maturity.

"That's a little fireball," said Gleason. "She's done well on the rodeo circuit too. She did well at Pendleton. Big patterns, little patterns. It's pretty special to get into that money too."

The Gleasons purchased JD Look as a 4-year-old through Blane Schvaneveldt, who was training the stallion at the time. A son of Strawfly Special, JD Look is out of the three-time racing champion See Me Do It, by On a High out of Rita Seis by Easy Six.

"I started him on the barrels and he was going good," Gleason explained. "He hung a leg during a practice run and tweak his stifle. It was so close to breeding season, we just started breeding mares. We never did get back on him to campaign."

The Gleasons had several Dash Ta Fame mares and Strawfly Special was a good cross for them.

"He's 20 this year," she said. "It's gone by fast. He looks good and we're looking forward to this season."

While both Gleasons used to rodeo—Brad is an eight-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier and the 1997 World Champion Steer Wrestler, and Karen is a multiple Montana and Columbia River Circuit finalist—they've focused more on raising horses and running cattle rather than going down the road.

"We stay busy," she said. "I started riding colts and doing more of the futurity thing. There's not quite as much running up and down the road. When I traveled with Brad, it was hard. The road get weary. We both like sticking a little closer to home. We have a couple hundred head of cattle that we own, and Brad manages 800 to 1,000 head for another ranch. So, it's hard to do everything."

Gleason is going to try to take advantage of some of the incentive programs that Mo is eligible for. Her travel itinerary includes the Idaho Barrel Futurity, Copper Spring Ranch, the Glacier Chaser Classic, 5-State Breeders Futurity, and of course, Pink Buckle.

"It's all about the incentives these days," she said. "Since our stud is older, we didn't do the ones like Pink Buckle where it's a little more investment, but I sure am interested in all the incentive programs. Ours is in Future Fortunes, Triple Crown, Montana's BBI, the BRN4D Incentive, Glacier Chaser, Valley Girls...It's getting to be where people are looking at it when purchasing colts."

THE RUNDOWN w/Karen Gleason

Mobetta Fame, "Mo" 15.1 hands, 1,000 lbs.

"He's just the right size for me," she said.

BIT: Right now, I have a Dave Elliot on him, but I have to run him in a stiffer-type roping bit and just try to be really light with him. He's really bendy so I take a little bit of bend of him." Mo also wears a cavesson to prevent him from talking to other horses. "His biggest thing is he's very social. He likes to look and talk to all the other horses. That was probably the biggest hiccup when I was training him."

HEADGEAR: Magic Tiedown, a rope nose, braided tiedown from Kim Smith

SADDLE: Corriente that she won on Mo's half-brother Red Bull Look

SADDLE PAD: Felt

LEG GEAR: Classic equine, front only

SHOEING: Rims on all four

FEED: Hardly any, usually a mare and foal mix if they happen to be up in the barn

HAY: Alfalfa and grass pasture – Mo lives in the pasture with a group of geldings

SUPPLEMENTS: Salt block

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: None. "I'm not your typical barrel racer," said Gleason. "I don't do anything special."

CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIMEN: "Ranch work or riding out. Sometimes I like to work him on the poles. I was thinking about entering the pole futurity at Gillette. He loves the poles and it's a great way to keep him in shape. You can do whatever on him."

Laboratory Test | Consultation with Veterinarian | Corrective Customized Supplement

Horse Hair Analysis® provides an extremely accurate profile of a horse's biochemistry. The most experienced laboratory in the country is used to process the hair samples. The results are then compiled into a 15 page report complete with graphs and easy to read text for each mineral and metal.

Mark DePaolo, DVM will review each deficiency and toxicity present during a phone consultation. This is a great opportunity to learn how Dr. DePaolo's common-sense approach to nutrition can have a positive impact on your horse's health and performance!

Mark Bugni & All About Xs N Os Win D&D Hosted Kim Landry Benefit Futurity

By Tanya Randall

Mark Bugni guided All About Xs N Os (“Shiner Bock”), owned and bred by talented youth rider Jayci Byler of Bellville, Texas, to the championship at the $10,000-added Kim Landry Benefit Futurity, hosted by Chuck Dunn’s D&D Barrel Productions, April 9-14 in Abilene, Texas.

Landry, one of the all-time great futurity trainers and competitors from Starke, Florida, is battling early onset dementia. The event was spearheaded by Ryann Pedone, who rode with Landry as a Youth. The event was sponsored by Pedone’s R Barrel Horses, Randy Hartley, Potter Concrete, Lee Pedone, Double X Equine-Dr. Don Lee and HorseSwim.com.

Although Landry’s futurity career and Bugni’s never overlapped, the Okemah, Oklahoma, trainer knew of and respected her career. It seemed fitting that Bugni, who was trying to get back up to speed with his futurity horses after breaking his jaw right before Christmas last year, find success at the event.

“One of the things that attracted me to the event was that it was for a great cause,” he said. “Kim is an icon in the industry. I want to thank Ryann and her family and the D&D crew for having it.” At Abilene, Bugni ran three futurity colts, two of which won money. The futurity championship, plus an Open 1D win on a carryover in Race 2, was worth $8,352.

“It was just easy for him,” he said of Shiner. “The pattern was bigger and more open than what we had been running. He was able to use his speed and size. The ground held him really well and he was able to rip the back side. I knew it was going to take something special to outrun him, but I still couldn’t believe he’d clock as fast as he did.”

In the second round, Tillar Murray’s JL Lava Roc, who had placed third for Bugni in the first go, struggled with stickier footing and took himself out of the average. Shiner, however, gritted through it to place sixth in the round to win the average.

“He’s got a rodeo horse attitude,” Bugni said. “When other horses are going to struggle, he's going to try harder. He probably overworked a little, but he kept running and kept trying."

By up-and-coming sire Guys Easy Jet out of Small Memories, by Leaving Memories, Shiner Bock has been training under the direction of Bugni and his partner Rick McIntosh for a little over a year. McIntosh does all the basic patterning, while Bugni takes them to competition level. However, Bugni said they won't take complete credit for starting Shiner on the barrels. When McIntosh first climbed on the gelding, he knew the horse had seen the barrels before and Byler's mom Kimmi admitted to Bugni that she had caught Jayci going around the barrels on him.

After McIntosh rode Shiner for two to three months, he was ready for Bugni to go on with. The talented gelding was named to the BFA Super Stakes for his competitive debut. Unfortunately, severe ground trouble in the slot race left the gelding shaken and lacking confidence.

"He has a wicked whip on the back side," noted Bugni, "and when he came around the second, he went to whip and his back-end went out from under him. He had a sandy print up to his hip. I eased him up for the third and he still slipped at the third too. He was really rattled after that and it took a while to get his confidence back."

Then, just a couple of weeks later, Bugni was kicked in the face and fractured his jaw. He had surgery on Christmas Eve to plate his jaw back together. Although he was riding two-and-a-half weeks later, Bugni's own confidence was rattled.

"I was scared to lope because I was afraid that I would jar something loose, and delay my healing," said Bugni. He had already lost 15 pounds due to his inability to eat anything beyond shakes and mashed potatoes. "At about three-and-a-half weeks, I was brave enough to cruise through. It was six weeks before I dared to compete."

Bugni competed at the LG International Futurity in mid-February, but he said he was timid and his horses were behind.

"I kept playing mind games with myself," he said. "Everyone else

I'll tie the other horse up and then go through the barrels a little bit to remind him of his spots. For the most part he thrives on being treated like a ranch horse. I ride him five days a week because he needs that to be comfortable with you handling him when you ask him to do something."

Pluemer and Famous French Bug Win Logandale

By Amy Wilson

There's another "Sister" collecting proroдео wins, this one belonging to Leia Pluemer from Los Lunas, New Mexico. The 9 year old mare, Famous French Bug, and Pluemer ran a 17.70 in the first round of the Clark County Fair and Rodeo in Logandale, Nevada. Friday morning they ran in Oakdale, California and then went to a barrel race in Ceres, California which put them 8-10 hours away from Logandale. The top 12 advance to the Logandale short round and she was sitting eighth with the Saturday night performance to go. "I was on the fence about heading back Saturday night or going on Sunday because I didn't want to get all the way back to Logandale and jinx myself and not make it back," she said. A friend was confident she would make it and encouraged her to go. "We were driving through Las Vegas trying to listen to the live feed of the Saturday night perf to see if I got bumped out or not," Pluemer recalled. She ended up getting moved two spots to place tenth in round one.

"Going into the short go I knew I had to push my mare as hard as I could to the first barrel. If she has a lot more momentum going into her first barrel, she turns it and usually will have better, quicker run," Pluemer said of her game-plan. "Running in there to the first barrel I had one of those 'oh crap' moments – are we going to turn it?! But she did her part and I just trusted her and tried to stay up in the middle of her. It worked for us," Pluemer said of their 17.31 second run to win the short go by two tenths. That was also enough to secure the average win and collect a total of $4,898.

With the well-being of livestock in rodeo a top priority, Pluemer appreciated the measures the rodeo committee took to protect the equine athletes at Logandale. "With the Equine Herpes Virus going around, Logandale locked up their gates to the facility and they bleached everything and kept it closed for the past month, so I really applaud them for keeping the place sanitized and clean for the proroдео contestants," she said.

Pluemer is currently 22nd in the WPRA World Standings and like every professional barrel racer, would love to make the NFR. After finishing second in the WPRA Rookie of the Year race in 2018, she set the goal to win $90,000 in the 2019 season. "I feel like with that amount of money, that would place me in the top 15," the 24 year old said. She credits her mom, who also grew up rodeoing, with teaching her everything she knows about barrel racing, and admits that while proroдеоing last year and this year, she has learned "a ton" from Amber Moore. "She's been more than generous in sharing her knowledge and her wisdom with me and helping me with knowing which rodeos I should enter. I've been so incredibly grateful for her." She continued, "I feel like all the girls that are pro-

BIT: It's a mystery bit. I've carried it around the NFR for two years, but no one knows what it is. It's not stamped. I got it at a yard sale out of a bucket for $5. She loves it, but I have no idea what it is.

SADDLE PAD: Best Ever

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine

SHOEING: She lost a shoe in Oakdale so my friend's husband put one on her. So she has three that are the same and one that's different. We call it her lucky shoe right now.

FEED: Triple Crown Complete and rolled oats

HAY: Homegrown alfalfa

SUPPLEMENTS: Silver Lining Herbs – Respiratory and Hempseed oil

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Back on Track, Sports Vibe wireless massage blanket

CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIMEN: During the week, I'll try to ride her when it's quiet and no one else is around because then I can get on and exercise her. And I usually exercise her in a hackamore. I try to long-trot her for 20-30 minutes a day.

rodeoing that have been there and done that are more than willing to share their knowledge and opinions about a rodeo with me."

Pluemer has had Sister for almost three years after buying her from a friend, Frankie Drullinger, who had asked Pluemer to start running the mare. "We were looking for another horse for me but we didn't really want a mare or one that was young and hadn't been seasoned at all, but I got on her and started making runs on her. We kind of just clicked," Pluemer remembers. She then seasoned her at the college rodeos in 2017. "She enjoyed it and every run she got faster."

Pluemer graduated from the University of Nevada – Las Vegas in May 2018 with a degree in Communications Studies and a minor in public health. As she rodeos full time, she also works for her family's company, Party Outlaw, which sells drinkware and offers food service merchandising. "I do all the billing and invoicing while

I'm on the road and my cousin runs the warehouse while I'm gone. So we stay pretty busy with that," Pluemer explained. "I work while I'm on the road – my truck has wifi. I usually have someone go with me to drive or a hauling partner and I do all my billing while we're going down the road."

Pluemer is obviously great at multi-tasking, and now gets to add another prorodeo win to her growing list of accomplishments.

Headin' For Home

"Classic" by Mike Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

The barrel pattern is set and everyone in the race must follow the predetermined course. You can't just decide to make better time by only turning two barrels.

So, too, it is with life. There are certain things and rules you can't change no matter how much you'd like to. For example, driving in the proper lane of traffic. For your own safety and the safety of others, you must follow the rules.

Hebrews 12:1 tells us "...since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which so easily ensnares us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us..." Sometimes, we might feel that God has treated us unfairly in allowing us to carry certain burdens and responsibilities but He knows the end from the beginning and He will not let us have more than we can bear.

If we just "stay the course," pray and turn everything over to our Father God, we'll see that He'll make it all right in the end. We can't let ourselves get caught up in the snares of envy when we see others appear to receive all that life has to offer without even trying. Envy is dangerous and blocks our blessings from God. And, many of those who seem to "have it all" are actually living lives of quiet desperation.

"Let's not get tired of doing what is good. At just the right time we will reap a harvest of blessing if we don't give up." (Galatians 6:9) Read Hebrews 10:36 where it tells us we need patient endurance to continue to do God's will and then we will receive all that He has promised. Many times, people now are thankful for the things that they previously murmured and complained about. What satan intends for evil, God can turn to good. It's a good thing to every day ask God help you be content with who you are and where you are.

Remember this advice from Carrie Ten Boom, "Never be afraid to trust an unknown future to a known God!" Now, get out there and do your best at whatever race is set before you!
