Breakthrough Victory For Emily Miller and Namgis D 33 At Rodeo Austin

By Tanya Randall

Emily Miller knows what a great horse feels like. The Weatherford, Oklahoma, barrel racer had felt it before with her 2017 RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo Champion Namgis D 35 ("Pipe Wrench"). She felt it too with his paternal half-brother Namgis D 33 ("Chongo") but struggled with seeing rodeo victories come to fruition.

That all changed at Rodeo Austin, held March 16-20 at the Texas capital, where Miller and Chongo won their first major championship together, earning $13,663 to move to 13th in the WPRA World Standings with $27,147.

"I cried," admitted Miller. "I think even my dad cried. It pretty neat as I was leaving the arena, Lisa Lockhart hollered at me 'Good Job!' Moments like that sure leave an impression on you. It was pretty special. I'm for sure not going to take it for granted."

Miller had originally tried Chongo in the summer of 2015. Both he and Pipe Wrench were trained and futurityed by Kylie Weast for their breeder Stan Sigman of Hondo, Texas. Both 5-year-old geldings were out of Sigman's foundation bred all-around performance stallion Bucks Hancock Dude and out of racing-bred mares. Pipe Wrench is out of Central Station, by First Down Dash, while Chongo is out of the Eyesa Special daughter Track Goddess.

"I tried both and I could only buy one," Miller explained. "I had a hard time deciding. I ended up buying Pipe Wrench, and obviously, that ended up working out very well. He's been an amazing horse. Chongo had won more than Pipe Wrench at the futurities, but Pipe Wrench was just more mentally mature. I didn't think Chongo was ready for the pro rodeos."

The timing wasn't right for Miller and Chongo to be a team, but three years later, fate intervened. In November of 2017, a family inquired about purchasing her gelding Money Is N Firewater ("Benny").

"I didn't want to sell him, but it was one of those deals where it was the perfect home, the perfect match," she said. "That horse is living the dream. I couldn't walk away from that deal."

With Benny sold, Miller had an opportunity to purchase another, so she called Renee Ward, Weast's mother, and asked that she keep an eye out for her. In January, Ward called and said Chongo was back.

"I went down there and rode him and it was just like I rode him yesterday," noted Miller.

Unfortunately, she didn't team up with Chongo as smoothly as she did with Pipe Wrench or Foxy, Pipe Wrench's full sister.

"It's been a little more hit or miss," she said. "It's been really, really good when it's good, but we've struggled. Just a few weeks ago we were really struggling. I didn't know if I was ever going to figure this horse out. I'm not quite sure why we clash heads sometimes. I guess we're just hard-headed. The horse has a huge heart and big motor; that dude can scoot."

Miller had big expectations over the winter run, knowing that she had a horse capable of winning first at the tough winter rodeos—if she did her part, which was a little slower in coming than she anticipated.

"I have to work at making sure I place him properly," she explained. "It's been such a struggle at the first barrel, because I'm used to having to pull. Chongo wants to turn that barrel. That's his money deal. Driving him all the way to that point and trusting him that he's not going to step by and trusting myself to stay out of his way has been a bump in road for me. I've really had to learn to stay up with him."

The hit-and-miss was starting to grind on Miller's mental game.

"We've had the times, we've been in the right spots, but we've

Winter Rodeo Run Wrap Up

Rodeo Austin closed out the last of the major building rodeos for the 2019 Winter Run.

It should be no surprise that the top four in the WPRA World Standings are National Finals Rodeo veterans or WPRA World Champions.

Nellie Miller, the 2017 World Champion, technically only ran at one major winter building rodeo—Rodeo Houston, but her second straight championship there catapulted her the No. 1 spot in the standings and gave her the opportunity to head home to rest up for the Spring Run of rodeos in her home state of California.

Lisa Lockhart's streak of NFR qualifications looks to stay alive, thanks to the unexpected efforts of her backup horse Prime Diamond. The 8-year-old gelding came into his own in late March, winning the RAM National Circuit Finals Rodeo (RNCFR)—which counts to the WPRA World Standings this year—and placing well at Rodeo Austin. She's now home until the summer run.

Defending World Champion Hailey Kinsel and her wicked mare DM Sissy Hayday claimed two building titles—Fort Worth and San Antonio—to sit third in the WPRA World Standings.

Two-time World Champion Brittany Pozzi Tonozzi had one of her strongest winters in recent years. She and KissKiss BangBang, her outdoor specials and standard pattern record holder, did well in the bigger barns, like Fort Worth and the indoor-outdoor at Rodeo Houston. Her youngsters also picked up key checks at other rodeos during the winter.

Jennifer Epps-Sharp got off to a great start taking second at Odessa, winning Denver and placing second at Fort Worth. Even though she was the early World No. 1, she missed out on the lucrative limited entry events—Rodeo Houston and San Antonio due to their standing's qualifications. Without enough won in 2018, she had to win San Angelo to get into Houston for 2019.

Jimmie Smith, the 2018 Rookie Champion, placed a nearly every major winter rodeo this year. Ericka Nelson placed along at the bigger rodeos as well but got a huge boost in her own backyard at the RNCFR in Kissimmee, Florida. Jessica Routier got a good bump from Florida as well.

Shali Lord, Ivy Conrado, Dona Kay Rule and Lacinda Rose capitalized on solid checks from the limited entry rodeos. Emily Miller made her biggest jump with Rodeo Austin. Kathy Grimes did well at the smaller indoors, winning Rapid City and staying solid at San Antonio.

Rounding out the top 15 is Cheyenne Wimberly, who started out hot in January, placing at well at Odessa, San Angelo and Tucson, but missed out on the qualifications to Rodeo Houston like Epps-Sharp.

At this time of year, the question is to go west for the California Spring Run or go home to rest up for the grueling summer run. Those at the top have the luxury of knowing they're okay if they stay home. Others with hot horses at the moment can capitalize if they go west. However, as it's been proven in the past, it is possible to make the NFR on the summer run so the question to go or rest remains.

caught a barrel here and there that have kept us out of some big earnings,” she said. “We’ve been so, so close and haven’t been able to finish it. I had to take a step back a couple of weeks ago and think about Chongo and why we were failing as a team—why we couldn’t do our job in the end. We just couldn’t pull it off on that last run when we needed to.”

Miller’s dad Tom provided the light-bulb moment. “My dad is not a rodeo guy at all; he’s a farmer,” she laughed. “He said, ‘Emily, you flat out need to make a bigger circle at your barrel, period. You’re cutting corners. I don’t know how else to tell you, but you need more room.’ I was like, ‘Well, way to dumb it down for me Dad! I needed that.’ Sometimes, I think we over complicate things so much, and I’ve been trying to do things so perfect with that horse that I maybe put too much pressure on myself.”

The week before Austin, Miller worked on making good circles around her barrels and looking to her spots.

At the tournament style rodeo, 96 contestants each made one run during the performances with the top 16 advancing to the next round. Miller and Chongo were fifth in the first round with a 14.99. The top 16 were split between two performances with the top eight advancing to Saturday’s final. Miller and Chongo were fifth again with a 14.95.

Before Saturday’s finals, she spent the day at Rodeo Austin with her boyfriend Austin Beisel and his 4-year-old son Rowan.

“We spent all day out there riding rides and watching the pig races,” laughed the red-headed Miller, who admitted to getting sunburnt during the excursion. “My friend Dusta Kimzey did the Wild West Show down there so we went and cheered her on a couple of her shows. We just had a great time. Having those two there, that was pretty neat.”

Determined to capitalize on a wonderful day and put her mental demons to rest, Miller picked up a felt tip marker and wrote “2019 Austin Champion” on her back number.

“That was a big step for me,” she said, “to know that I was capable too before I went out to saddle my horse.”

In the finals, the duo posted their fastest time of the rodeo, a 14.87 to win the Championship.

“After I ran, little Rowan comes up to me and says, ‘You actually won!’” she laughed. “It was a pretty emotional win for me. They asked me about Chongo in the interview after my run and I started crying. I’ve believed in him so much. It was so hard getting close so many times, but not being able to pull it off. I’ve never struggled that much with a horse that was so talented, where I was the one that couldn’t finish it. Mentally, it was pretty trying on me this winter. I felt I had failed a lot as a jockey. So, to “actually” win—in the words of a 4-year-old—was pretty cool. It was really special having both of them there.”

Miller also took the extra time to go personally thank the grounds crew for their hard work.

“I’ve never run at a pro rodeo where the ground was that consistent, top to bottom, beginning perf to last perf,” she said. “It was just phenomenal. I talked to Benny Buelter and he guided me in the right direction of who I needed to go thank. I told them how much I appreciated their hard work. We as barrel racers appreciate having safe ground to run on. I definitely think they need to be considered for ground of the year.”

Next up for Miller and Chongo is the slack for Lubbock, Texas, this Wednesday. Then Chongo gets a nearly three-week break while Miller puts more time in as a dental hygienist at Stephens Family Dentistry.

JL REDDY TO CHARM

2014 stallion by Red × BF Silver Charm, Takin On The Cash
Fee $1000 plus shipping, frozen semen available

FUTURITY WINNER WITH OVER $26,000 EARNED IN 2019

Reddy is the perfect outcross for Quarter Horse mares. His sire, Thoroughbred sprinter Red, earned $469,399 racing and has TB progeny earners of $1,897,656 and QH progeny earners of $2,355,202. Red's top barrel racing money earner is Xtrared, a 2-time NFR qualifier and Ram National Circuit Finalist earning $458,211 with Christina Richman. His dam, BF Silver Charm (ROM racing), was out of Missy Yupon—dam of BF Shenanigan, a top barrel futurity colt with EquiStat earnings of $134,026. Her sire, Takin On The Cash (SI 109), has barrel progeny with $468,185 EquiStat earnings. BF Silver Charm's 7 foals have barrel earnings of $184,978, thanks now in part to Reddy. Eligibilities: Future Fortunes, 5-State Breeders, Glacier Chaser Classic, Colorado Classic, Barrel Breeders Incentive, and VGBRA.

Jill Lane and JL Reddy To Charm Classic Equine Futurity Champions

By Amy Wilson

After following her passion and spending many years in the horse business, Jill Lane has had success in numerous ways, but this past weekend she won her first futurity, the Classic Equine Futurity in Queen Creek, Arizona. She was riding her home-raised and trained stallion, JL Reddy to Charm "Reddy". The five year old is by her stallion, Red (TB) and out of the Takin On The Cash mare, Bf Silver Charm. "It was a pleasant surprise," Lane said following the win. "I don't know how to explain it...I can't believe I finally won a futurity."

They placed third in the first round. "He didn't run as hard as he could to his first barrel and he kind of tripped when he came out of his second barrel," Lane explained. "I thought we were going to clock an 18 and he clocked a 17.4." That run helped Lane and Reddy regain some of the confidence they had lost when they went to Texas and Oklahoma in February and didn't have the runs she'd hoped for. "I was like, ok, he's back to working again," she said. They were towards the top of the draw in round two and knew she needed to "run hard" if they were going to have a chance to win it. "I just let him work and he worked," she said with a laugh. "I don't know how we didn't hit the second barrel because he really turned that tight. He's just getting confident now, and I can really trust him that he's going to do his job." They were 17.176 on the standard pattern to win the second go and the futurity average. "It's painful for me to watch my videos because I can see the mistakes I make running, but that little stud is just so gritty," Lane admits. "And I honestly think he likes me. He knows how to win."

The fact that Reddy even exists is proof that what's meant to be, will be. Lane had always bred Reddy's dam, Bf Silver Charm to Dash Ta Fame because that was a proven cross, but she wanted to get a Red (TB) out of Bf Silver Charm. "That last year that I stood Red, he was just sub-fertile. A lot of mares were coming up open," Lane remembers. She had been trying to breed Silver Charm to Red all spring – every two weeks she'd find out she was open and breed her again. "Finally it was the end of June, she was open. I'm mentally and physically exhausted so I just kicked her out in the pasture," Lane said. The Teton River runs behind her barn and all the mares without foals at their side cross the Teton to get to their summer pasture. "Silver Charm came back in heat around the 4th of July. Red was in the stud barn. She would come back across because she was in heat and stand there by the back corral gates. One day I was out there doing chores and I was looking at her and I just couldn't give up – something wouldn't let me give up. I went and caught Red," Lane explained. She knew she didn't have anything to lose, so without even catching Silver Charm, she just led Red out to her and let him live-cover. "She would go back across the pasture at night and in the morning she'd be back by the gates so I'd take Red out there and let him live-cover her." After two or three days, Silver Charm quit coming across the river. Lane didn't bother to preg-check her because she didn't want to be disappointed again. "I didn't hardly get anything in foal to Red – I think only five," Lane said. That next spring she was getting all the open mares in for the vet to culture before she started to breed. "Luckily my vet checked all those mares for pregnancies before he did that, and she was pregnant," Lane said remembering the surprise. "I thought it would be cool if she had a stud colt, and she did. He was solid sorrel and I thought it would've been really cool if she would've had a gray. But I knew I was pushing my luck to even think that," she said. Two weeks later, she noticed he started getting some gray hairs around his eyes. "I'm pretty lucky." However, it wasn't a very pretty process to get to how he looks now. "He went through a real ugly stage when he was a yearling and two year old. I kind of hid him behind the barn because he didn't look like much," Lane said about Reddy when he was a "splotchy" gray.

Lane wasn't really planning on keeping Reddy a stud, but all his angles were just right and she hadn't kept a stud prospect by Red. "I thought he would be a really nice replacement for Red because I

THE RUNDOWN w/Jill Lane

JL Reddy To Charm, "Reddy" 15.1 hands, 1,100 lbs.

BIT: Loomis gag

HEADGEAR: I warm him up in an Elliot gag bit with a wire nose band tie-down. Two drags before I run, I put on the Loomis gag to run.

SADDLE: Caldwell

SADDLE PAD: 5 Star

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine or Iconoclast

SHOEING: Kerckhaert

HAY: Free choice hay and alfalfa/Bermuda hay pellets

SUPPLEMENTS: Platinum Performance CJ, Super Sport by Purina, Outlast

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Jace Blackwell does muscle conditioning on Reddy

CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIMEN: He probably gets rode 4 – 5 days a week. If I'm in Arizona, I take him to the wash, or if I'm home, I just ride him out in the pasture. I may lope him through the barrels once or twice after I've been out in the pasture, but if that happens it's usually just once a week. He knows his job so the less I work him, the better. He just needs to stay fit.

SPONSORS (SUPPORT TEAM!): My boyfriend, Andy Taylor of Taylor Aviation. I couldn't do any of this if he wasn't helping me. My veterinarian who seems more of a partner to my success is Justin McCormick of Copper Ridge Equine.

wasn't going to get any more mares in foal to Red," she said. Now Reddy has about a dozen colts, and the oldest are two years old. Lane only bred about five mares to him every year, but this year will breed more. "I love them. They have the same fluid style and movement – they're very graceful when they travel, and they have that same shoulder and neck that he does," she said. Although Reddy's style of running barrels looks deceiving, according to Lane, he never loses forward motion and he's smooth around his turns. "He never quits running. He's real fluid and he's fast. He may not look like he's running but he's covering ground." And when it comes to running barrels, he's all business. "I've hauled him with two mares so far all year and he is in love with those mares. But when you get on him and go ride in the arena, he's all business and doesn't care about anything else," Lane said. She added, "He likes to play. He's half arrogant – he comes off that way to me – he's spunky."

Lane was originally planning to run Reddy in the BFA juvenile futurity his three year old year, but when she hauled him to Oklahoma about a week before the BFA, he got really sick. "He got colitis and I about lost him," she recalled. "He was at Oakridge Equine for almost a week. They really stayed on top of it and were able to catch it before it got out of control." It took Reddy about six months to recover, so Lane decided to hold him back to futurity as a five year old. Now she's hoping to prove him as much as she can and then cross him back on some JL Sirocco daughters and some other mares that she can't cross on her Sirocco stallion.

Lane, who lives in Fort Benton, Montana, grew up in Nebraska. Her dad sold her rodeo horses when she started college because he wanted her to focus on her education. After she graduated from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, she took a job with Merck which moved her to Montana. She spent around ten years away from horses before she started getting back involved. Then in 2008, after about 15 years with Merck, she came to a point in her life where she had to decide if she was going to move forward with her career, or focus on her horses. "I decided that you only live once, so I went with the horses," Lane said. Then a few years ago she decided to enter the January futurities in Arizona. She was planning to only stay for two weeks, but those plans changed when she experienced winter in Arizona. "I was having so much fun and enjoying the weather and made a lot of new friends. A piece of property came up for sale when I was still down there and I ended up buying it," she said with a laugh. "I never want to spend a full winter in Montana again. It's perfect to spend the summers in Montana and the winters in Arizona."

Although she knows she should be back in Montana since her mares are already starting to foal, she saw the info for the Bluebonnet and the Classic Equine Futurities in Queen Creek, which is only about an hour from her place in Maricopa. "They had good money added, and BRN4D always puts on a really nice barrel race. It's always well organized, they take really good care of their contestants, and they have really good sponsors. So I really wanted to support BRN4D and I knew it was probably the last two futurities I was going to get to go to before I had to go home and stay home to foal out mares and finish breeding season," she explained. And now she gets to go home to Montana to continue producing barrel horses with Reddy as the Classic Equine Futurity Champion.

Headin' For Home

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Have you ever heard or said, "You're not the boss of me!"? There's something actually very funny and freeing in that statement!

When you're still at home, you yearn for the days when you can be your own boss and do what you want...only to realize after the fact that you had it pretty good! That ole 'the grass is greener on the other side of the fence' thinking can come back and bite us in the rear end!

Is it good to grow up and leave home? Yes! Is it fun to be your own boss? Yes! But like everything else in life, we can run off in the ditch and wreck! Did you know that "Lord" means "boss"? So if you have asked Jesus to be your Lord, He is now your boss. Romans 10:8-14.

He is, however, the best boss ever! He will never ask us to do anything that will hurt us. He pays great. He paid it ALL for you and me! He's been there and done that and can lead us right through the worst times!

So, let's check our priority list this week. Jesus should be #1. If we have anything else above that, even if He's #2, then He's WAY TOO FAR DOWN THE LIST! And if you like, please join us on Facebook (Triple M-Mike Morrison Ministries) on Tuesday nights at 7:20 for Bible study! We are very new at this, so please be patient if we mess up! Have a blessed week!

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies. Check out our schedule online. You can also download all Bible studies by visiting our website: m-m-m.org or contact us at: PO Box 2439, Gillette, WY 82717, 307/685-2272.
