$17,054 Victory For Jordon Briggs & Famous Lil Jet at Cheyenne Frontier Days

By Tanya Randall

2021 WPRA World Champion Jordan Briggs capped off a $16,200 week of rodeo in Utah with a $17,054 championship at the $67,000-added Cheyenne Frontier Days, held July 22-28 in Wyoming. Her great horse Famous Lil Jet ("Rollo") has put her in the WPRA's Top 30 with less than two months of rodeos.

"Obviously, Rollo does really well in Utah and last week was a really good week," said the Tolar, Texas, based barrel racer. Being able to finish it off with a win at Cheyenne just gives me all my confidence back."

Briggs spent the earlier part of 2024 rehabbing her 10-year-old gelding from a tear in a rear sesamoid ligament, likely caused by hyperextension leaving a barrel when the ground doesn't hold the push.

"I'm not sure when it happened, but we caught it quick," she said of the injury found by her veterinarian Dr. Marty Tanner. "We healed it within six weeks with RenoVo. We checked it every two weeks and at two weeks it was 75 percent healed. Dr. Tanner did a great job. We did RenoVo, PRP and shockwave. I took two months to really get him back in shape, so when we started the summer we wouldn't have to look back."

After winning the Colorado Classic Maturity in their first runs back on the road, Briggs and Rollo struggled outside.

"We probably should have had a few more indoor runs before we went out to the rodeos," she admitted. "I forgot how to ride outdoors to be honest. I think I've been on my ratey colts and Rollo is a fire-breathing dragon. We had some pretty crappy first barrels for most of the summer."

Briggs said the problem was both of them were just being too aggressive. After Rollo ran off with her to the first barrel at the Calgary Stampede, her husband Justin stepped in.

"Justin was the one who rode him the next few days and got him balanced out and back on his rear," she said. "He's the secret to keeping Rollo tuned up and keeping me on track."

Since starting her summer run in mid-June, Briggs has won about $57,000. This past week, she was second at the Ogden Pioneer Days for $10,507, fifth at the Days Of '47 in Salt Lake City for $4,900 and 15th at the Fiesta Days Rodeo in Spanish Fork for $630. Cheyenne's $17,054 was the icing on the cake.

"It's just a cool rodeo to win for the memories for the rest of your life," said Briggs. "It's a bucket list rodeo for people to enter, let alone win. It's a tough rodeo. It's hard to make that many runs in that arena. It's a really neat rodeo to win and they make it special with all the cool gifts."

Her mother, four-time WPRA World Champion Kristie Peterson, won Cheyenne four times, but Briggs has only competed there three times. Her first was with her first NFR qualifier Frenchmans Jester in 2009. She went once before with her great horse Famous Lil Jet ("Rollo").

"I went in 2021 on Rollo and the ground was not good," she stated. "I made the short round, but we had some wild runs. He was young and still figuring things out. I think we made four runs for $3500. I said, 'I'm not going back.' It just felt hard on him. You just felt like you left there with a sore horse."

After a rough start to last year's rodeo, ground guru Randy

Spraggins reworked the ground for record-pace runs.

"I want to applaud Cheyenne for getting Randy (Spraggins) involved," said Briggs. "That's the reason I entered this year, because Randy did such a good job last year."

The tournament style rodeo is open to all card holders in the WPRO and starts with a qualifying round of slack. The top 72 advance to one of five quarterfinal performance with the top four each day advancing to one of two semifinals. The top six in each semifinal advance to the sudden death final performance.

Briggs and Rollo had the 21st fastest qualifying time of 17.57. They were second in their quarterfinal and semifinal performances with runs of 17.29 and 17.19. They saved their best run for last to out gun the first runners through the gate, Latricia Duke and DM High Roller, 17.06 to 17.08 to take the title.

Now, Briggs has to focus on the remaining Pro Rodeo Tour designated events to collect enough points to qualify for the Tour Playoffs in Puyallup, Washington, to keep her 2024 NFR quest alive.

"I decided not to do the Kansas Rodeos this year because it rains and I can't afford to miss a rodeo," she said. "I've got to hit as many (Playoff) Tour rodeos as possible because that's going to be my only saving grace this year."

With a lot of lucrative rodeos left, Briggs has a good chance of climbing even higher in the standings, but she's not willing to sacrifice Rollo, who already has more than $1 million in career earnings, to do it.

"My main goal is to stay in the Top 30 so that I have a chance for next year," she said. "If we get to the end of the year and I'm going to have to run my horse every day and do some crazy things or spend a bunch of money and hope my futurity horse places at a rodeo, I'm not going to be that person. If I get into Puyallup and try to battle it out to get to go to Sioux Falls, I'm dang sure going to do that. I've just got to stay in the Top 30 to get into Houston next year."

She said what she's having to do late in the season is no different than many others who have had a late start or less lucrative winter runs.

"It's just expected in rodeo. Most people would probably try to get a second horse to make it a little easier on themselves, but that's not why I rodeo. It's a little tougher now that I have sponsors to make those decisions.

"I called my sponsors and said, 'Rollo's hurt, and to be honest, I'm a little burnt out myself. I would like to take a break while Rollo's on break.' I'm not going to ruin a futurity horse trying to make it a rodeo horse when I have all these great futurities to go to. So, we all took a break, and it was really nice."

Now, Briggs is putting the futurities on hold while rodeo is her main focus. She has started to rodeo season her 2024 futurity horse Awesome Arlo (Blazin Jetolena x Ta Wonder x Dash Ta Fame) a little. She walked up as a replacement for a turnout at the Red Desert Roundup in Rock Springs, Wyoming, on the way back to Cheyenne and drew the last check on Arlo.

"I did enter a few smaller rodeos the next few weeks to run Arlo and give Rollo a break," she said. "I'm going to stay on the rodeo trail and enter smart, so I don't put any extra miles on Rollo's legs."

Gold Medal Moment for Kassie Mowry & Force The Goodbye at Utah Days Of '47

By Tanya Randall

Barrel racing's all-time leading money-earner Kassie Mowry added some new hardware to her trophy case with an Olympic-style Gold Medal from the $53,000-added Utah Days of '47 Rodeo, held July 19-24 in Salt Lake City. The emotional victory on the back of Force The Goodbye ("Jarvis") was worth $20,600.

The four-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier is battling the mental demons of the rodeo road along with the grief of losing her fiancé Michael Boone in early June.

"I've always come out here by myself," she said. "This isn't anything new, but after I run, the first thing I do is call or text Mike, especially when they do something like Jarvis is doing. I guess I don't have to pick up the phone because he's there with me.

"That's the hardest part. Not being able to tell him." When Famous Ladies Man ("Emmitt"), who won majority of her summer rodeo in the past, came up sore, likely due to his previous injury from a fall at Rodeo Houston, Mowry started to question everything.

"Is this a sign from God I need to go home?" she said through tears. "It was an emotional roller coaster."

Leery of putting to many runs on the 6-year-old gelding, Mowry turned to longtime friend and fellow trainer and NFR qualifier Danyelle Campbell for advice before the qualifying round of the Days of '47.

"She told me just run him at Salt Lake and take it one day at a time," Mowry said. "Jarvis just went out there and did so amazing."

They put nearly 3/10ths on the field with a 16.71 on a WPR Standard Pattern.

Campbell's response to Mowry's next call — "Well, I guess you're going to Cheyenne."

At the $67,000-added Cheyenne Frontier Days, Jarvis ran third in the qualifying round which was open to all WPR Cardholders.

"Well, it looks like you're going to Ogden," was Campbell's next reply.

They left the $35,000-added Ogden Pioneer Days Rodeo with a lead they never lost, earning $13,134. At the $38,000-added Fiesta Days Rodeo in Spanish Fork, they finished seventh for $3,148. Their next run was a performance win at Salt Lake with a 16.86 that advanced them to the Gold Medal Round.

"He just stepped up to the plate every time, so I just kept going," said Mowry.

In the Finals at Salt Lake, Jarvis rolled off 16.75 to take home the Gold and $13,000.

"It's just an incredible feeling to run a horse like Jarvis," she said.

The gelding won $43,370 on the week. “He’s literally just packing me through this because I can’t even remember my runs when I come out of the arena. I come of the arena just absolutely crying my eyes out. I don’t have control of myself.”

She said she and Boone had a special connection with Jarvis, whom they purchased as weanling from his breeder Janelle Blubaugh.

“He was so proud of that horse,” she said. “Jarvis passed the million dollar mark the week before he passed. I’m so glad he was here to see that. It made him so happy. It was such an accomplishment for a horse at 6 years old. He was just ecstatic that Jarvis had accomplished that.”

Ironically, Mowry had planned on running Jarvis at one rodeo—the Snake River Stampede in Nampa, Idaho, one of the rare buildings during the summer run.

“The one rodeo I had wanted to run him at I ended up turning out because I couldn’t get a trade at Cheyenne,” she chuckled. “It turned out to be a blessing in disguise.”

“Jarvis is fairly green to come to these rodeos outside. He’s been great and won in the buildings, but this outside, big pen stuff is new to him. To go in there and hold his own like he did is just incredible. Jarvis just knows the assignment.”

Although the Dublin, Texas, based trainer would like Jarvis to stay a baby longer, he’s had to bail out both of her seasoned rodeo horses at one time or another. He’s also been left with a pretty big assignment.

“When we were driving home from Vegas last year, Mike said, ‘You’ve got to do whatever you can to make sure Jarvis gets back to Vegas,’” said Mowry. “It was so weird for him to say that because he’s not into rodeo that much. He said it to me a handful of times. He was like, ‘Whatever you have to do. If you have to go more... Jarvis deserves to go and have another chance with a full ten rounds. I kind of laughed. That’s been my motivation. That’s what Mike wanted for me...for me go and Jarvis have that chance to get in that pen again. I know this is what he would want me to be doing.’”

Smith's Centerfold Wave Rolls on in Utah

By Julie Mankin

Seven years after her standout futurity success on Dashes Centerfold (Dash Ta Fame x Diamonds Tiny Effort), veteran trainer Sue Smith of Blackfoot, Idaho, has raised and trained another champion out of the great mare.

At the Red Rocket Futurity on July 26-28 in South Jordan, Utah, Smith won the first round and placed third in Round Two to sweep the average aboard a 5-year-old sorrel daughter (by Blazin Jetolena) named Jets Pin Up. Smith took home $6,614 in the futurity (she also won an Arizona futurity on the filly last fall). Plus, Smith's two runs of 16.128 and 16.219 also earned cash in the Open each day and various sidepots to bring her total to $9,469.

"The only other time I've ever had my foot drag on the ground in a turn was on Centerfold at the Colorado Classic," Smith marveled. "And this weekend, my foot drug going around the third barrel. This one is definitely, without a doubt, the quickest horse I've ever ridden. Right next to her would be Tito [Andrea Busby's Blazin Jetolena daughter (Blazing With My Dude) that Smith trained]." It's worth pointing out that Smith topped some of the best in the business last weekend less than a year from turning 70. She did it on a horse she raised and trained, that wears shoes she applied herself, that wears a saddle and bit she also designed, that sports a headstall and breastcollar she made from scratch.

Smith, who began taking names over 20 years ago, then made the 2009 and 2011 NFRs aboard Real Claim Ta Fame, finds it fun that Centerfold passes a lot of her traits to her offspring. For instance, just like her mama, the Red Rocket-winning 5-year-old she calls Beth Dutton pins her ears throughout each run (she got that barn name because she's a little spicy, according to Smith).

"She's gritty, like her mom," Smith said. "Especially when she was younger, she'd get herself in trouble just by trying too hard. That's not a problem if you can direct it correctly. But with her, it was. Centerfold is funny — most horses cock an ear in the turn, but hers are flat back in every picture. It's a characteristic she throws in most of her colts."

Centerfold's babies also display some attitude before they run. For instance, when Smith goes to warm up the mare or either of her two offspring this season, they simply decide when they've had enough and pull themselves up. So then Smith just stands to the side until her name is called.

She was having a dream rodeo season on Centerfold herself last year — including setting arena records at Ogden and Cheyenne and a new earnings record in the Wilderness Circuit — when the mare was unexpectedly sidelined. Smith had to turn to Centerfold's 7-year-old son Diamond Center ("Hef?") by A Smooth Guy (a friend figured since the dam was Centerfold, the colt should be Hugh Hefner). The buckskin gelding made respectable runs when thrown into the fray in Vegas, and this season won a big rodeo in San Diego and recently won a round at the NFR Open.

"My futurities are a little hit-and-miss because I rodeo, too," Smith said. "I'm enjoying Centerfold's colts and have some more coming up that I'm excited about."

Jets Pin Up

BIT: A new combo she designed with Dave Elliott

SADDLE: A Three Forks saddle she designed

SADDLE PAD: 3S Custom Equine

LEG GEAR: Professional's Choice

SHOEING: Steel rim shoes

FEED: very little

HAY: mostly alfalfa

SUPPLEMENTS: Forco

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Bemer

CONDITIONING/TRAINING REGIMEN: I don't work her a lot on barrels, but I put her on the gallop track around my arena. She requires a lot of riding.

SPONSORS: Three Forks Saddlery, 3S Professional's Choice, Forco, Zesterra, South Valley Equine

Watch for Smith in coming years aboard these in particular — a 3-year-old by RR Mistakelly and two 2-year-olds by The Goodbye Lane and Blazin Jetolena.

"It keeps me busy," she admitted. "Between rodeoing and getting home and getting these colts ready to go to futurities, it's a juggle. But it's fun when it works out. I've got some super nice colts coming up and a couple of client horses that are looking really good."

Bella Skinner & Stylish Especial Shine at WCRA World Championship Junior Rodeo

This past week July 23-27 the Cinch World Championship Junior Rodeo was held at the historic Lazy E Arena in Guthrie, OK with a payout over $389,000. The competition in every event was tough as kids from across the country competed for big checks. In the Junior Division of Barrel Racing, Stylish Especial & Bella Skinner had a silky smooth fast run in the Finals to win a $6,000 check for 1st place! We caught up with her to get a little more info about her win.

BRR: Can you walk us through your Finals winning run?

Skinner: I just knew I had to have a clean, fast run. I just stayed as calm as I could and went for it. It was a blur after that. LOL!

BRR: Can you share with us a little about the whole week of the WCRA Junior Rodeo?

Skinner: We got in Monday evening in time for open arena and then got the horses settled in. I ran barrels Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. When not running there wasn't much down time between feedings, keeping their stalls clean, letting them out to run and buck (Grayman doesn't like to be stalled up). When not tending to my horses, I hung out with my friends and watched them compete.

BRR: Can you tell us a little about yourself and your barrel racing career up to this point?

Skinner: I'm 16 and been riding since I was little and started competing in youth rodeo associations 7 years ago. I've won several barrel saddles, pole bending, all round saddles. I've qualified for the Texas State Finals every year and was HS Reg V Barrel champion in 2023 and 2024. I've been going to Vegas in December for the past 4 years. In 12/22 I won Reserve Champion at the All In in Vegas and qualified for the KK run for Vegas and Vegas Tuffest. 12/23 I won 3rd at All In and qualified for Vegas Tuffest. In 5/23 I won The Memorial race in Hamilton Tx. In 6/23 I won reserve champion at The All American Youth in Jackson MS. In 2024, I qualified for The American and have already qualified for 2025. This was my first year to nominate WCRA. I competed at Rodeo Corpus Christi and Women's 24 Pro division in FW. I advanced from FW and got to run at AT&T Stadium, winning 4th.

BRR: What did you do this past couple weeks to have your horse at his/her best?

Skinner: Slow work on barrels, riding daily, he gets Equiscope therapy, laser therapy, aqua tread, Bemer treatments

BRR: How do you mentally prepare for big runs like this weekend prior to entering the arena?

Skinner: I stay to myself and wear my AirPods listening to music.

BRR: What are three things (other than truck, trailer, horses and such) that you can't travel without?

Skinner: CEP Products, Bemer and my AirPods.

Emily Gatlin & Fergies Fling Win NBHA Teen World Championship

This past week one of the biggest events on the youth calendar for the year, the 2024 NBHA Youth & Teen World Championships, happened July 21-27 in Perry, GA. With $90,000 plus added to the event, it attracts all the best youth and horses from around the country. In the Teen Division, Fergies Fling & Emily Gatlin smoked a run in the Finals to take the title. We caught up with Gatlin to find out a little more about her big win.

BRR: Can you walk us through your Finals winning run?

Gatlin: I went into my Finals winning run calm and confident. I knew that if I just went in there and let her work and stay out of the way she would do amazing. I told myself to stay calm; smooth is fast and not to rush and that's exactly what happened.

BRR: Can you share with us a little about the whole week of the NBHA Youth World?

Gatlin: Our week was so much fun we went to the Lane's Peach Orchard and had some fun at the Idol neon party. The vendors were amazing, if we weren't doing something with the horses we were shopping. All of the activities they had set up were so much fun to watch especially the amateur race which is one of our favorites.

BRR: Can you tell us a little about yourself and your barrel racing career up to this point?

Gatlin: July of 2022 I won All American Youth on a 1/2 sibling to Fergie (Geemeneze Fling). In 2022 I also won the NBHA Louisiana State Championship 1D and 2D (open and youth) on Geemeneze Fling 1D and Miss JB 1316 2D. 2023 I won the 1D finals and average at The Christmas in Dixie in Jackson on Geemeneze Fling, having the fastest time of the weekend. This current win put my Equistat LTE above $55,000 which was a goal of mine this year.

BRR: What did you do this past couple weeks to have your horse at his/her best?

Gatlin: My focus during the weeks prior is to keep her fit. I accomplish this by putting her on the hot walker often. I may ride 2-3 days during the week, working on drills, while trying to keep her happy. We took a week long break, right before we made the long haul, so she could just be a horse. I knew we were facing a long week and wanted to keep her working while remaining confident. I work on my horsemanship at home staying correct in my riding so during a run it becomes thoughtless.

BRR: How do you mentally prepare for big runs like this weekend prior to entering the arena?

Gatlin: I like to stay confident in my preparation and stay in my routines that I know work for me and my horses. I tend to take a calm and relaxed approach when it comes to running which I've found has brought a lot of success on all of my horses.

BRR: What are three things (other than truck, trailer, horses and such) that you can't travel without?

Gatlin: I couldn't travel without my Flexineb, Magnawave, or AirPods

World Champs Facing Adversity and Unheralded Cowboys Win Big at Cheyenne Frontier Days Rodeo

The Championship Sunday crowd at the 128th Cheyenne Frontier Days Rodeo (CFD) saw a mix of world champions facing adversity and unheralded cowboys ride away with 2024 championships at the Daddy of'em All.

The top 12 contestants from the previous rounds of competition compete on Championship Sunday where everyone starts with a clean slate. The first competition of the day was steer roping. Tuff Hardman of Atoka, Oklahoma, who came into Championship Sunday in tenth place, but clocked a time of 14.5 seconds as the third man to rope. The closest any of the rest of the field could get was a 14.6 by another Oklahoman, Chet Herren. Hardman has his sights on qualifying for the National Finals Steer Roping and the nearly $11,000 he won on Sunday will help the father of three reach that goal.

Next up was bareback riding where seven of the 12 finalists were veterans of the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo (NFR). North Dakota cowboy Clay Jorgenson marked the highest score of the 2024 rodeo with 90 points Summit Pro Rodeo's Game Trail. This is the biggest win to date for the 28-year-old cowboy and is one he'll remember for a lifetime.

"To get my name up there with a bunch of great guys who've won this rodeo before, it hasn't really processed yet," Jorgenson remarked. "It's an unbelievable feeling and I'm so blessed."

In tie-down roping, world standings leader Shad Mayfield continued his successful season, clocking a time of 9.8 to win by nearly 3 seconds. Mayfield has been battling hip injuries all season and credited being able to stay in Cheyenne through the week with helping his performance. He will take a few weeks off for rest and rehabilitation to stave off surgery until after the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo (NFR) in December.

Mayfield, who won the world title in 2020, grew up coming to Frontier Days with his father. He has a photo of himself as a young child swinging a rope under the grandstands.

Reigning breakaway roping world champion Shelby Boisjoli-Meged was emotional on the winner's platform after winning her event with the fastest time of this year's rodeo – 3.7 seconds. She admitted that she had been having a rough time winning this summer.

She had to be one of the top breakaway ropers in the wild card round after she missed the cut in the qualification round.

"I missed my calf in the wild card and had to fish my rope around the neck," she said. "I credit that 'cowgirl try' with getting me to today's finals. Today I thought I had broken the barrier for a couple of strides until I heard my husband yell."

To see your name drawn next to Sankey Pro Rodeo & Phenom Genetics' THE Black Tie is a bronc rider's dream. The 2023 Saddle Bronc Horse of the Year is known for giving cowboys a good chance to mark 90 points or more. Logan Cook of Alto, Texas, took advantage of that opportunity with a score of 90 to win the championship.

"I've kind of been nervous since yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock just because you know you've got the one to win it on as long as you do your job," Cook explained.

"Everybody in the world watches the Daddy of'em All. You grow up as a little kid watching it and it's just great to come here and come out on top," he said.

Winning Cheyenne Frontier Days is an accomplishment that has eluded team ropers Hayes Smith and Justin Davis for years, until now.

"This is one of the ones you grow up practicing to win and I've never even made the short round here," Smith said, while Davis added "I've made the short round five or six times, but I've never won it."

The field was stacked with past CFD champions along with numerous NFR qualifiers, but Smith and Davis bested them all with an 8.3 second run to win.

"This is as good as it gets. It's a lifelong dream to win this rodeo. I've been here probably 16 times, and I've never won it, so it's pretty special," Davis acknowledged.

Denton Good, a 20-year-old steer wrestler from Long Valley, South Dakota, earned his first championship at Frontier Park. Rodeo is a family affair for Good. His father Allen was his hazer, riding his grandfather's hazing horse. Denton rode his brother's horse while his brother was at another rodeo riding Denton's horse.

Good opened a fencing business after he graduated from high school. His foreman made the 4.5-hour drive to watch the final round while the rest of his crew worked a fencing job.

In barrel racing 2022 World Champion Jordon Briggs and her horse Famous Lil Jet that she calls Rollo took the win in Frontier Park, a place where her mother Kristie Peterson won four championships in the 1990s. Champions here get a prize package that includes a trophy buckle and trophy saddle. Peterson also took home a trophy bit from the 100th anniversary of this rodeo. Briggs received a special three-foot tall

Briggs took most of the rodeo season off as Rollo recovered from an injury to a suspensory ligament and had won no money in Women's Professional Rodeo Association competition as of June 1. Since then, she and Rollo have been taking home paychecks and the $17,000 they earned here is an important boost in her quest to return to the NFR or at least end the season in the top 30 to qualify for the big winter rodeos.

The 2025 Cheyenne Frontier Days Rodeo will be held in Frontier Park July 19-27, 2025.

HEADIN' FOR HOME

by Sherry Morrison // Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Recently Mike purchased a new pistol and decided he'd go out and sight it in. A common occurrence at our house. I was inside doing something, listening to the many gun shots from outside.

After about 10 minutes, my phone rang. It was my neighbor. He said, "Sherry, I've been hearing gun shots from your house and I just wondered if I should get my gun and come help you!" I laughed!

He was wondering what in the world we were doing over here and this was a nice way to find out! I was thinking how nice that was of him. When he heard gunfire, he was all in to help. I wondered if I'd be so quick to respond. But the Holy Spirit spoke up on the inside of me.

Natural help is not nearly as vital as spiritual help. Hell fire is a lot worse than gun fire! Have I considered that my neighbor may not be saved?

Romans 10:8-13. How about if all of us who call ourselves Christian, take the time, in love, to come to the aid of those around us who don't know Jesus.

He showed me he was willing to come to my aid. Am I willing to come to his?

Mike and Sherry Morrison pastor "Church at the Barn" in Gillette, WY. They also travel to other areas ministering at barrel races, ranches, rodeos, churches and home Bible studies.
