Mark Bugni & JL Lava Roc Sweep Southwest Desert Classic Open & Breeders Futurities

By Tanya Randall

Mark Bugni and JL Lava Roc, owned by Fulton and Trina Murray of Fort Worth, Texas, got a big confidence boost for the upcoming $40,000-added Glen Wood Memorial Futurity by sweeping the open and breeders futurities at the Southwest Desert Classic, held Aug. 16-18 at the Blackhawk Arena in Salina, Utah. The dual victories were worth $5,888, not including their share of the $7,500 Future Fortunes payout as well.

"He pulled about $8,500 out of this futurity," said Bugni of the Glen Wood precursor that featured an open and breeders futurity with $7,000 added in each. "They've got a lot of aspects you can get money. It was really like $21,000 added because he was eligible for everything."

The victory was a breakthrough for the 5-year-old gelding, who overcome some difficult to diagnose injuries that hampered his training.

"Sometimes he struggles with that left turn," the Okemah, Oklahoma, based trainer explained. "He just doesn't want to flex and turn and come to his finish. I had his TMJ (temporomandibular joint) injected recently and they x-rayed his neck and found some roughening on his vertebrae, so they injected that as well. This was his first weekend to run after we had that done. Honestly, I think it helped him a little bit.

"I always tease Tillar (Murray) that I have this average mediocre horse on first barrel and a top NFR horse on second and third. Luckily, this weekend, he turned into an NFR horse on all three turns. It was pretty sweet."

Bugni and Lava turned in a super, smooth run of 15.397 to place second in the open futurity and win the breeders first round.

"This horse is super honest on his second and third, so all I had to think about was that first turn," he said. "I just wanted to get him up in there and start his rate spot. I knew that once he drops the anchor and starts his rate, he has a tendency to shut down all his momentum and stand over his hocks a little bit and then he wants to get a little stiff and not come back to your hand at the finish. So, my whole goal was to chase him out of that rate and around that turn, almost unlock him from getting too ratey coming over his hocks too much.

"As soon as he rated, I started shushing him forward as hard as I

WCRA Announces Number One Athlete on Leaderboard Advances to $1 Million dollar rodeo

The World Champions Rodeo Alliance (WCRA) announced today that the number one athlete on the WCRA Leaderboard in each discipline from each segment will automatically advance to WCRA One-Day $1,000,000 Major Rodeos.

This incentive will take effect immediately, giving the top athlete in segment four direct advancement to the first one-day $1,050,000 WCRA Major Rodeo of 2020. The event will be hosted on February 28 at the Sprint Center in Kansas City, Missouri - The WCRA Royal City Round Up. Athletes from around the globe have the chance to earn the number one spot on the leaderboard when nominating their efforts through the WCRA Virtual Rodeo Qualifier (VRQ) until December 1 at 11:59 p.m. CT

"Historically we have rewarded those in the upper portion of the leaderboard going into a semi-finals with placement into the later rounds," said WCRA President Bobby Mote. "Feedback from athletes has helped us offer this new ultimate incentive if you are ranked number one. Athletes can now advance directly to the major, regardless of your performance at the Semi-Finals. We believe this will reward top athletes whom earn points through successful competition and participation in the VRQ."

Mote also stated that athletes who place first on the leaderboard may still choose to compete in the semi-finals for additional earnings. Along with this new number one incentive for VRQ Users, there are additional incentives related to leaderboard positions at the upcoming Please see WCRA Segment Four Semi-Finals Positions here.

In addition, the WCRA Royal City Roundup will feature an extra $50,000 in the Tie-Down roping discipline due to no qualified times in the Showdown Round at the June WCRA Titledown Stampede in Green Bay. This prize money will carry forward to make it a $100,000 payday for the WCRA Royal City Roundup Tie-Down Champion, with a qualifying run. All other disciplines will compete for $111,000 per, with the champions opportunity to earn $50,000 in each discipline.

Since launching in May of 2018, the WCRA and its partners have awarded more than $5,600,000 in new money to rodeo athletes.

could and kept his hind end moving, kept him moving forward, and he came around to his finish. It worked out beautifully. He was just 'on' from there."

In the second round, the finished fifth in the open and fourth in the breeders en route to the average wins.

"I had to do a little bit of schooling," he noted, "because sometimes when you shush those horses through a turn like that, the next time you go to do it, it doesn't work as handily. I had to do some slow work and make sure he was still comfortable with me shushing him through that turn a little bit."

Their only miscue on their second run was rating the first barrel. I felt like he could have rated a smidgeon earlier going into that first on the second day," he said. "I missed it by just a half-a-step. He's a really efficient two-step turner, but you've got to have that perfect entry or it becomes a three-step turn and it costs you a little bit more time. I felt like it did on that second run. He came out of (the first turn) a little early and had a little bit of a bowing line to the second barrel and I really had to work at getting him over so I wasn't able to drive him across the pen as hard.

"I was happy he was successful with the run. I got two solid runs out of him. I knew it was going to stay competitive, but I didn't know it was going to win it. We were only half-way through the draw when he took over the lead, so I didn't know how it was going to end up. I knew there was a good chance we'd at least be in the top three. I was thrilled that he ended up winning the average. I'm looking forward to this next weekend. I think if I pay closer attention to where his rate spot is, I can get two of those really wicked runs out of him. That's my goal for next weekend."

Bred by Jill Lane of Fort Benton, Montana, Lava Roc is by Lane's homebred stallion JL Sirocco, an Equi-Stat leading sire, out of Acquire A Fire, a daughter of Fire Water Flit. Acquire A Fire is a full sister to two-time NFR sire Nonstop Firewater, the sire of Calgary Stampede and College National Finals Champion Firewater Five, and Fashionable Boy. His yearling full sister sells this Friday at the Breeders Dynasty Sale in Isabel, South Dakota.

Lava Roc was purchased out of the BFA Sale as a long 2-year-old by the Murrays at the behest of Bugni.

"They had bought JL FourTaFame from me and they wanted another one," he said. "They said if you find something you like in that sale, we want it. I picked Lava Roc. I had started riding him two or three weeks before the sale, getting him ready for Jill, just have him ready for her to show in the preview. I liked the horse and knew all about him before we ever bid on him."

Bugni, who followed up his Kim Landry Futurity Championship on Jayci Byler's All About Xs N Os with a BBR Finals 1D World Championship on JL Twisted Roc, a paternal half-brother to Lava, says the colt was "golden" in earlier training but suddenly started having difficulties with his left turns.

"You could just lope him through a solid pattern," he recalled. "He was just easy, solid mentally and then all of sudden things changed. He didn't turn to the left very well. We were working a right handed pattern at the time, so we had two left turns. He went downhill.

"He didn't want to do it. He wasn't feeling terribly sound. I worked with him, vetted him, couldn't find anything wrong with him. We spent probably six or eight months trying to figure out why he wasn't the same and why he wasn't working any more. Finally, I took him back to the Murrays. I said, 'I apologize. I can't find what's wrong with him, but something is not right. Maybe take him to your group of vets down in Texas.'"

Lava had a chipped removed from his ankle and was treated for EPM—Bugni had treated him for the disease once before but not as aggressively—before starting rehab. Martha (Wright) Jordan, who oversees the Murrays' rodeo horses, started bringing the gelding back.

"She fell in love with him and started doing some exhibitions with him," Bugni said. "Once, they felt he was pretty solid at a slower pace, they called me up and said, 'Do you want to take him again and maybe hit some futurities and see how it goes?' I took him back and started slow. He was still struggling with his left barrel, but he started getting better and better. He won an open rodeo a couple of months ago. Now, he's won a futurity."

The eventual plan is to make Lava into another rodeo horse for Tillar, a former NFR qualifier who is planning on a run at a return trip to Las Vegas.

Traci was diagnosed with Stage 3 IDC Breast Cancer in January 2019. She is currently undergoing 5 months of chemotherapy which will be followed up by 33 daily treatments of radiation. While Traci fights this battle with faith and grace, there are many challenges that come with such a diagnosis, along with surgeries and extended treatments plans. That is why we have decided to hold a benefit barrel race to assist the family. Traci is a wife of 11 years to Trey Pratt and the mom of two beautiful children, Byron and Megan. Amidst this fight she is also a 24 hour caregiver for her terminally ill son who is still fighting his battle as well. Nevertheless, she always has a smile on her face and is available to help anyone and everyone that reaches out to her when time allows. She has continuously been there for the youth of our community offering free lessons and mentorship. She is a light, Godly inspiration and positive role model for many of us. In short, we just want to give her a helping hand in her time of struggle.

Dona Kay Rules with High Valor at the Caldwell Night Rodeo

By Tanya Randall

When the Caldwell Night Rodeo committee brought their newest barrel racing champion into the arena following her victory, for just a moment, Dona Kay Rule was a starry-eyed kid again, dreaming of one day being on center stage as a rodeo champion. Only it wasn't a dream, it was her reality.

"They invited me back into the arena for a picture, and I started tearing up," said the talented all-round cowgirl from Minco, Oklahoma. "They induced Sammy Thurman into the Hall Of Fame this year, and I remember being at the Cow Palace riding around with my dad and I looked over at her and she winked at me. I saw her run and I was absolutely delighted that she winked at me. It was so cool. That all came back to me at Caldwell. It's like one day you're a little kid dreaming, and then it's you."

Rule and her 10-year-old gelding High Valor ("Val") pocketed $8,898 for the win at the $22,000-added rodeo.

"It was really a fun rodeo," she said. "They fed us good. The staff was wonderful. I appreciated them a lot."

Rule made her first two runs in slack on Tuesday. She split the first round win with two-time Caldwell Champion Stevi Hillman and Cuatro Fame ("Truck") with a 17.270 and followed it up with a 17.110, which took second behind Hillman and Truck in the second round.

"My goodness, I was 76 out of 83 and then they waited an hour and turned around and ran us again," Rule explained. "It was a straight flip so I was No. 12. We didn't have much time between runs."

Although they didn't have long to rest between runs, Rule wasn't worried about how Val would handle it.

"He's very, very ethical," she said. "If I ask him to do something his answer is 'Ok, how hard do you want me to try?' I can be pretty intense on him or I can lighten up, and he'll try to answer the best he can."

Rule and Valor also had no problems with the footing.

"The ground looked a little bit firm on the first set of horses," she said. "Of course, you don't know until you feel it. You can walk out there on foot and it feels quite different when you make the run. I felt like after seeing the firmness initially, I would really keep a shoulder up and his hip in and coast that backside a little and hurry away from the barrels. My second run I knew it would hold him so I didn't interfere very much. I let him tell me where he was going and tried to help as needed."

After their runs at Caldwell, Rule and Valor headed to Gooding, Idaho, for slack at their $10,000-added rodeo. They ended placing second, earning $3,027.

"I really like that rodeo," said Rule. "It was very nice, a very wonderful committee. You go out there and water was nowhere to be found and there was a man with water on a four-wheeler. That man's probably been a committee member for years. We really appreciate those people. They went above and beyond."

Their third rodeo of the week was Burley, Idaho, but they caught a barrel.

"It was a non-issue," she said. "It just happened that he over-worked barrel one and just pulled it. It wasn't like we blew it into the stands, cause that can happen too. We just loped out and would have placed with that."

Back in Caldwell, she had a tough field to contend with in the short go. She and Val turned in a 17 flat to win the round and average. She calls the experience "thrilling."

"Oh, my goodness! That was the funnest thing!" she exclaimed. "There were so many people in the stands. I tried to really focus on keeping him relaxed and loose. The girls that were there and the horses that were there, I was just so excited to go to run with them, because everyone was mounted. I knew when I went in the alley I was going to have to drop the hammer and just let him roll. Based on what we had seen on the other two runs, I knew the ground would hold him."

Her $11,925 weekend bumped her to 11th in the WPRA World Standings from 13th with $80,214.

Unlike some of her of fellow competitors, Rule has limited her runs during this hectic portion of the season. While some are making four or five or more rodeos a week, she's sticking with about three.

"It's not because I don't think he can handle the runs; it's because I can't drive all night," chuckled Rule, who is out on the road with just her dog Rosie for company. "I didn't like it when I was young and certainly don't like it now. I can do it, but I don't want to. When you pass that 60 mark, there are some limitations and you need to be smart."

Her horse, who has been solid all year, has gotten stronger over the summer.

"He feels good, which is interesting at this stage of the game," she noted. "I've added a few more calories, knowing that we were expending more calories. I upped his feed. I didn't bring an extra horse because I really needed his focus on me. I think he's begun to count on me a lot. I think their security comes from their friend and I think he's chosen me for his friend. He counts on me to tell him he's okay, so I try to make sure he is ok. I try to communicate that to him."

Rule purchased Val from his breeder and her good friend Lana Merrick-Bailey when he was 6. Merrick-Bailey, a former National Finals Rodeo qualifier herself and the benefactor of the Scoti Flit Bar award given to the rising equine star of the season, had planned on keeping the gelded son of Valiant Hero, out of Rare High, by Rare Form, for herself, but life and her breeding business got in her way.

“Her words to me were, ‘I’m going to ruin him doing like I’m doing him, home two weeks and then gone a week. It’s just not fair to him. Would you like to buy him?’ I was like, ‘Oh my goodness, would I ever!’”

The one stipulation was if Rule ever wanted to sell him, he would go back to Merrick-Bailey. That one condition actually made it easier for Rule, who had always trained and sold her horses.

“Honestly that took a load off my back, just knowing that it was all on me,” she said. “I didn’t have to keep him groomed up for anybody else, just put him together for me. So that was nice. Everything I’ve ever had I trained and sold to pay for my kids schooling or whatever, help the family with money. There was never that horse that was just mine no matter what, and Valor is.”

Initially, Rule wasn’t sure if she could keep up with Valor, but she was forced to turn to the gelding when her current rodeo horse Juice suffered a career-ending injury from a freaky non-performance accident.

“He was just the other guy in the trailer,” she said. “He was difficult. I wasn’t 100 percent sure I could stay with him. He’s very stout and has a very long stride.”

In 2017, they went to winning the 1D at the large jackpots and the following year, they had earned the right to run at this year’s winter rodeos. In hind-sight, Juice getting injured was the turning point for her professional rodeo career. It’s now or never.

“I finally gave myself permission to go,” said Rule, who has qualified for numerous Women’s National Finals Rodeos as roper. “I dug deeper to see if I

High Valor, “Val” 15.1 hands, 1,200 lbs.

BIT: O-ring for daily riding; Sherry Cervi lifter with a twisted-wire mouth-piece to run—just in case she ‘miscalculates and needs to lift a little in a turn.

SADDLE: made by her husband—John Rule Saddlery

SADDLE PAD: 5 Star

LEG GEAR: Classic Equine on all four, plus bell boots

SHOEING: Nothing fancy. “I’ve got a tremendous farrier, Dusty Franklin from Minco, Oklahoma. His spent his life studying legs and feet, and I trust him deeply.” As a certified journeyman farrier, he’s got an extensive network throughout the country and has been able to recommend shoers for Rule.

FEED: KoolSpeed

HAY: All the alfalfa he wants

ALTERNATIVE THERAPIES: Deanna Harrison’s lung support essential oil topical blend daily, Equi-Resp, Chiropractic care and acupuncture, MagnaWave and Acuscope—but not something she does often.

CONDITIONING-TRAINING REGIMEN: “I’m old school. Currently, he does get rode every day. My job is to keep him quiet and confident and loose in his body. I make him use his body a lot. I like him loose in the middle. I want to know how he feels every day, so if he does feel off, I’ll immediately know. Walk, trot, lope both directions every day.”

could make a go of it.”

This week, Rule and Valor will run at Kennewick and Bremerton, Washington, and Coeur d’Alene, Idaho. She’s anxious to get back on the road home to Oklahoma.

“I feel like after Ellensburg (Labor Day Weekend), I’m going to start ambling my way back home,” admitted Rule, who said the closest she’ll get to running at Pendleton is visiting the museum there this week. “I’m kind of like that song, ‘If I ever get back to Oklahoma, I’m going to nail my feet to the ground.’ I miss my grand-kids, my children, my husband, my normal daily stuff, my other little dogs that couldn’t come with me, stuff like that. The closer it gets I think I’d like to be in Minco, Oklahoma, pretty darn quick!”

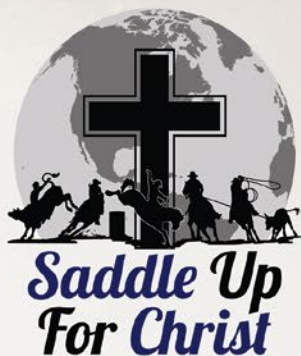

Rule has been overwhelmed by the support and well-wishes throughout her rodeo journey.

“I’ve been so incredibly blessed through all of this,” she said.

“I can’t even begin to thank everyone. That would be a book! I’m afraid I’d leave someone out and everyone deserves an ‘Atta Boy.’”

by Sherry Morrison
Triple M (Mike Morrison Ministries)

Okay, I learned another lesson. You'd think at my age I'd have learned them all by now. Nope. First, let me ask you a question? Have you ever "presented your case" to God? "God, if you'll do this for me, then I'll do that for you" kind of case? That's on the positive side. "God, if you'll get me out of this mess, I'll NEVER do it again" case? I think that one would pretty much get us all!

Why do we do that? Because we don't think we're good enough. Romans 10:3-11. When you ask Jesus to be your Lord, YOU ARE NOW, AND WILL ALWAYS BE...GOOD ENOUGH! Because your righteousness is from Him, not yourself! 2 Cor. 5:21.

So what did I learn? Never take your 8 year old granddaughter to the pound! Even though I gave her "the talk" before we went in, I never dreamed she'd fall in love with this little bitty, shivery, kind of dog.

They have two dogs already, so it's not like she is dog starved. But she presented her case. "Gram, I have $30.00 so I can pay for her. I'll work to buy food. I'll clean up 1/2 the dog poop in the yard"... and on and on. All I can say about that is... THANK GOD FOR PARENTS WHO WILL SAY NO! lol!
